Ike, Mitchell To Bare Steel Strike Facts

Hope Move Will Speed Settlement

Information Will Be Made Public In Thursday's Papers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell decided today to make public basic facts behind the steel strike in hopes of speeding negotiations and a settlement.

The information gathered by Mitchell as Eisenhower's personal fact-finder, will be made public for Thursday newspapers.

Mitchell said they will cover wages, prices, productivity, profits and a few related matters.

The secretary told a news conference the information covers a major part but not all of the facts he has been assembling from industrial and government sources.

Mitchell said the report will be a factual one with no recommendations for action.

He said he made no action proposals this morning in a 45-minute conference with Eisenhower.

He told questioners the projected release of facts "is not intended as intervention. We hope as a result of these background statistics that the parties will bargain a little harder and reach a settlement."

Asked whether he interprets this as increased pressure on industry and labor, Mitchell said he wouldn't interpret it at all.

He said he hopes the facts will clarify some of the issues and inform the public on them.

The session with Mitchell was the major business item on a list of engagements which brought Eisenhower back to the White House for a one-day break in his work-rest holiday at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm home.

Later in the day he had an appointment with New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. He planned to go back to Gettysburg shortly after that.

Mitchell said the voluminous data on the steel strike, now in its sixth week, are in the process of being printed. He said he will make them available and discuss them at a news conference in his office at 2 p.m. (EDT) Wednesday, for Thursday release.

Representatives of both sides of the steel controversy, Mitchell said, met with officials of the Bureau of Labor Statistics and reviewed in a preliminary way the facts which now will be released.

Sens. George Aiken (R-Vt) and Jacob K. Javits (R-NY), Monday called for Eisenhower to make public the facts on the steel strike. They planned to introduce a resolution in the Senate along these lines today.

Mitchell was asked about the Aiken-Javits proposal and told newsmen that, no, the decision today to disclose the facts so far accumulated was not in response to it.

He said Eisenhower feels that the information obtained from sta-

AFL-CIO Eyes Plans To Cut Labor Bills

Will Seek Congress Aid To Trim Parts That It Objects To

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP) — AFL-CIO chiefs mapped plans today to try to get Congress to cut from Senate and House labor control bills the provisions to which organized labor objects most.

The differing bills passed by the two houses are now before a joint conference committee. The union leaders expressed dislike for both, but held some hope that the conference group might rewrite a bill to salvage what organized labor considers the better features of each.

That hope obviously ran counter to the mood of many Congress members pushing for a bill they consider strong enough to control racketeering and other abuses shown by Senate investigations in a segment of labor-management relations.

The AFL-CIO leaders are attending executive council sessions in this Pocono Mountain resort area. They still are trying to figure the 229-201 House vote last week that upset House leadership plans and put over a labor control bill personally endorsed by President Eisenhower. It was the measure least desired by union leaders, who had criticized as too severe the much milder version passed earlier by the Senate.

In formal actions, the executive council pledged all-out support for the striking Steel Workers Union and decided to reverse organized labor six - year explusion of the International Longshoremen's Assn. on corruption charges.

The 60,000-member ILA was expelled from the former AFL in 1953 on grounds it was dominated by hoodlums and engaged in racketeer practices.

The AFL-CIO Council, deciding that the ILA has now substantially corrected the alleged abuses, voted to recommend that the federation convention meeting next month in San Francisco accept the ILA back in the body of organized labor.

Rockefeller's In Capital To Talk With Ike

To Report On Civil Defense And Confer With GOP Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller comes to town today to report to President Eisenhower on civil defense and to talk politics with strategically placed Republicans.

Eisenhower arranged to discuss with Rockefeller recommendations of the annual Governors' Conference for a national do-it-yourself shelter building program for protection from nuclear fallout.

Before and after this meeting, the New York governor planned to see influential Republicans with varying degrees of interest in the possibilty that he may seek the 1960 GOP presdential nomination.

Among these is Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), who is plugging Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the nomination.

If Rockefeller decides to take on Nixon, most politicians think he will have to contest the vice president in New Hampshre's first-in-the-nation presidential primary next March.

Senate Republcan Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he had planned to ask Rockefeller to be a guest at the regular weekly meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee where he could meet all of the Senate party members.

But Dirksen said the policy meeting had been called off because Eisenhower's schedule for the day was too crowded to permit his regular conference with party congressional leaders.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), who have said they will support Rockefeller if he runs, planned a luncheon meeting with the governor.

$6,800,000 Fund Set For Stratton High-Dam

The sum of $6,800,000 is provided for fiscal year construction of the high-level dam at Stratton among the public works appropriations contained in a bill passed by the Senate Monday and sent to President Eisenhower for his signature.

The project, started three years ago, has been going along under yearly appropriations. It will be completed in late 1961.

Here are the Ohio projects:

Construction — Cleveland Harbor $400,000; Dillon Reservoir $5,160,000; Pike Island Locks and Dam $3,500,000; Roseville $284,000; West Branch Mahoning River $525,000; Muskingum River reservoirs $599,000.

Planning — Belleville Locks and Dam, Ohio and West Virginia, $125,000.

Stopgap Work Due St. Clair

Costs Of Temporary Repair Seen $2,500

The administration is considering spending $2,000 to $2,500 on a stopgap resurfacing of badly deteriorated blacktop paving on St. Clair Ave. to help reduce maintenance work for at least one winter, Safety-Service Director Joseph W. Ross told Council Monday night.

The work will be "only an elaborate seal-coating project," not a conventional blacktop resurfacing, the director emphasized. Seal-coating includes spraying the existing surface with liquid asphalt emulsion and then covering it with fine slag.

Similar work was done five or six years ago, Ross said in response to questions from several councilmen. Although the previous job cost about $5,000 under a private contract, the city will be able to perform a more satisfactory resurfacing for $2,000 to $2,500 for material because it will be using its own equipment and labor, he explained.

A tank-truck spreader which the city purchased about a year ago will be used to spread the seal-coat material. It will be operated by street department employes.

Ross said the administration has "given tentative thought" to

New York's Power Back To Normal

Electricity Restored To Manhattan After Failure On Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — Lights flickering off in hospital operating rooms. Elevator service knocked out in huge apartment buildings. Packed subways, with a sweating human cargo, trapped in underground tunnels.

That was the picture as a sudden power failure struck the heart of Manhattan.

The power failure hit thousands of buildings in a 500-block section of upper Manhattan, leaving a half million people without elevators, air conditioning, traffic lights, or any of the complex systems that keep a great city functioning smoothly.

Power was completely restored to the area at 2:42 a.m. today, almost 13 hours after it went off.

The mercury was near 90 when power went off and the humidity was suffocating. Suddenly every intersection became a traffic jam.

Then the recovery began. In hospitals, emergency lights came on. Extra police poured into the area, straightened out the traffic.

Police sent emergency generator trucks to Mount Sinai Hospital, where nine polio patients in iron lungs depended on auxiliary power.

Subways, which have independent power but were stopped when signal lights went out, began to crawl, as workers with red lanterns signalled the way was clear ahead.

Then darkness came, and New Yorkers in the stricken area saw the eerie spectacle of a city without lights.

In hospitals, they faced the problem of getting expectant mothers to delivery rooms without elevators. At least one child was delivered in the beam of a flashlight.

But New York night life went on. Bartenders bought candles by the dozen, and complained because the beer was warm.

Children, when they found the television and radio sets wouldn't work, enjoyed the novelty of seeing candle flames flickering along Broadway.

Bank vaults wouldn't close, and extra guards were assigned. At a radio station disc jockeys had a field day. The turntables were knocked out, so no records could be played, and the listeners were treated to one, long, continuous line of chatter.

Meanwhile 10,000 employes of the Consolidated Edison Co. la-

Squirrel 'Banks' Acorns

There are no hollow oak trees in a modern bank, as a big red squirrel learned in a busy 20-minute "tour" through the Potters Bank & Trust Co. building this morning before he was captured by a fireman and a policeman.

The rural resident is shown clutched firmly in the hands of Fireman Alfred VanDyne, who wore asbestos gloves to guard against bites when he captured the critter.

Police got the first word of the squirrel's bank invasion about 10:50 a. m. Patrolman Charles Winters went to Central Fire Station to "borrow" the services of Fireman VanDyne, as police found they had no equipment for catching squirrels. The fireman donned heavy asbestos gloves and his regular fire-fighting coat to guard against scratches or bites when he cornered the animal.

The pursuit through the bank lasted about 10 minutes. The big squirrel finally was cornered and nabbed on a ledge in an off-set near the bank's entrance. Fireman VanDyne took the squirrel to the river bank near the Chester Bridge and placed him in a

Hegben Dam Damaged In Shock Wave

Mountain Toppled; River Blocked Near Big Montana Dam

HELANA, Mont. (AP) — Earthquakes shook the northwest from British Columbia to Wyoming Monday night and early today, reportedly killing six persons, damaging Montana's big Hebgen Dam and toppling a mountain to block the Madison River a few miles below it.

The chief of the Montana Highway Patrol, Alex B. Stephenson, was quoted by State Civil Defense Director Hugh Potter as saying between 100 and 150 people apparently were marooned between the dam and the slide.

Sheriff Donald J. Skerritt and Pilot Al Newby, after an early morning flight over the area, said "a mountain slied into the river." They estimated the slide is 200 to 300 feet high.

They reported the 35-mile long Hebgen Reservoir was "tipped askew" by the quake with the north shore droppingifrom 6 to 15 feet and the south shore rising as much. They said a giant fissure has opened up the length of Hebgen Lake on the north side all the way to West Yellowstone.

A campground in Madison Canyon was completely buried by the slide, the sheriff and pilot reported, and bits of wreckage which appeared to be part of tents and trailers were littered about in the debris.

Sheriff Skerritt theorized that the damage to Hebgen Lake probably was caused by an earthquake near midnight.

The temblors centered their wrath in the area in and around Yellowstone National Park.

They were felt in varying intensity from British Columbia to Oregon, across Washington, Idaho, Montana and parts of Wyoming.

A park spokesman said it was possible Old Faithful and many other geysers had been altered by

$1,500 Slated For Polio Shot To City Pupils

Council agreed Monday night to appropriate $1,500 for a compulsory Health Department program to administer anti-polio vaccine to approximately 1,800 East Liverpool school children — principally second graders and youngsters going to school for the first time this fall.

Council's informal approval cleared the way for Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, to proceed with purchase of vaccine. Legislation officially providing the money will be enacted later, councilmen said.

Each youngster will be given three polio shots by teams visiting schools, the health commissioner told Council. If the vaccine arrives in time, the first will be administered in early September and the second will follow in about 30 days. The third shot would be given next spring, probably in April or May, he added.

The $1,500 would cover the entire cost of the program, Dr. Kuhlman said. Children entering first grade last term did not get the polio shots. They will be included, along with youngsters enrolling for first grade in the 1959-1960 term.

A new state law requires every subdivision to inoculate youngsters against polio, tetanus, smallpox, whooping cough and diphtheria. Only the polio shots will be given in the first round, Dr. Kuhlman said. The other immunizations will be administered later as a single multiple-purpose shot.

Council approved a motion by Councilman George E. Willshaw, finance committee chairman, to appropriate the $1,500. He pointed out in his remarks that the city must furnish the money because "the State Legislature has made it mandatory to give these shots at public expense."

The Health Department's request for the vaccine funds was accompanied by a letter in which it asked Council to establish a "perpet-

Council Asked For Extension Of Sewer Line

Delegation Requests Beechwood Project Link Maine Blvd.

A three-man delegation asked Council Monday night to extend the current Beechwood sanitary sewer project to include about a half a dozen homes on the end of Maine Blvd. near McKinnon Ave.

Thomas Anderson, spokesman for the Beechwood delegation, told Council that seepage from septic tanks on Maine Blvd. moves downgrade and appears again on the property of the lower-lying homes in Beechwood.

"With the sewer, we're taking the sewage out through our front yards, but we'll still be getting it in through the back," he said. Maine Blvd. lies on a bluff overlooking the back end of Beechwood.

Because of the legal technicalities involved, the Maine Blvd. stretch cannot be added to the current project, but it could be done later as a separate job, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper advised the delegation.

But that does not mean the Beechwood job must be completed before the line extension is made, he said.

Anticipating the work, Council could go ahead with preparation of plans, serving of notices of assessment on the property - owners and enacting legislation and all the other preliminaries to such a project, the solicitor said.

The legal work, legislation and other preliminaries generally require about six months, he explained.

Boilermakers Reject Raises

Strike Continues But Power Plant Goes On

Members of Local 154 of the Boilermakers Union voted 159 to 44 Monday night at Pittsburgh against acceptance of a proposal by the Boilermakers Contracting Assn. to end their 12-week old strike.

Boilermaker pickets idled 540 workers on the power plant project from Aug. 6 to last weekend as union workers refused to cross picket lines.

Ronald Hoffmaster, union official, said the proposal called for another half-cent-per mile transportation allowance to work and the 15-cents per hour wage increase which has been used in several other building trades construction work agreements.

In turn the union would have to give up its long standing agreement to get eight hours pay for its members doing seven hours work. They would have to work seven and a half hours for eight hours pay.

County Home Picnic Gives Wonderful Saturday Night

LISBON — A County Home resident penned this grateful story today about an outing held Saturday for the 121 residents:

"This is the account of a wonderful Saturday night picnic at the old County Home and on one living here can remember of anything like it in the history of this home.

"It started early last week with rumors coming over the grapevine that there was to be a big doings on Saturday night. You couldn't pin anyone down on it, but those in the know just looked wise and said: 'You'll see, get ready for a big time.'

"It was a hot day, around 90 degrees in the shade, and toward evening things began to happen. There was a gang of men husking sweet corn outside the big kitchen and a grill was soon erected and a big firewas going merrily and picnic tables were placed on the front lawn under the big trees. It was a perfect place for a picnic.

"You would have thought everyone was going to a wedding. The men all shaved and dressed up fit to kill and the ladies, not to be outdone by a bunch of men, were dressed in their Sunday best and those gals really looked nice. That's for sure.

"Five o'clock came at last. Everyone who was able was present. You should have seen them

Council Asked For Extension Of Sewer Line

Delegation Requests Beechwood Project Link Maine Blvd.

A three-man delegation asked Council Monday night to extend the current Beechwood sanitary sewer project to include about a half a dozen homes on the end of Maine Blvd. near McKinnon Ave.

Thomas Anderson, spokesman for the Beechwood delegation, told Council that seepage from septic tanks on Maine Blvd. moves downgrade and appears again on the property of the lower-lying homes in Beechwood.

"With the sewer, we're taking the sewage out through our front yards, but we'll still be getting it in through the back," he said. Maine Blvd. lies on a bluff overlooking the back end of Beechwood.

Because of the legal technicalities involved, the Maine Blvd. stretch cannot be added to the current project, but it could be done later as a separate job, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper advised the delegation.

But that does not mean the Beechwood job must be completed before the line extension is made, he said.

Anticipating the work, Council could go ahead with preparation of plans, serving of notices of assessment on the property - owners and enacting legislation and all the other preliminaries to such a project, the solicitor said.

The legal work, legislation and other preliminaries generally require about six months, he explained.

Boilermakers Reject Raises

Strike Continues But Power Plant Goes On

Members of Local 154 of the Boilermakers Union voted 159 to 44 Monday night at Pittsburgh against acceptance of a proposal by the Boilermakers Contracting Assn. to end their 12-week old strike.

Boilermaker pickets idled 540 workers on the power plant project from Aug. 6 to last weekend as union workers refused to cross picket lines.

Ronald Hoffmaster, union official, said the proposal called for another half-cent-per mile transportation allowance to work and the 15-cents per hour wage increase which has been used in several other building trades construction work agreements.

In turn the union would have to give up its long standing agreement to get eight hours pay for its members doing seven hours work. They would have to work seven and a half hours for eight hours pay.

Stopgap Work Due St. Clair

Costs Of Temporary Repair Seen $2,500

The administration is considering spending $2,000 to $2,500 on a stopgap resurfacing of badly deteriorated blacktop paving on St. Clair Ave. to help reduce maintenance work for at least one winter, Safety-Service Director Joseph W. Ross told Council Monday night.

The work will be "only an elaborate seal-coating project," not a conventional blacktop resurfacing, the director emphasized. Seal-coating includes spraying the existing surface with liquid asphalt emulsion and then covering it with fine slag.

Similar work was done five or six years ago, Ross said in response to questions from several councilmen. Although the previous job cost about $5,000 under a private contract, the city will be able to perform a more satisfactory resurfacing for $2,000 to $2,500 for material because it will be using its own equipment and labor, he explained.

A tank-truck spreader which the city purchased about a year ago will be used to spread the seal-coat material. It will be operated by street department employes.

Ross said the administration has "given tentative thought" to

Resident Pens Gratitude

County Home Picnic Gives Wonderful Saturday Night

LISBON — A County Home resident penned this grateful story today about an outing held Saturday for the 121 residents:

"This is the account of a wonderful Saturday night picnic at the old County Home and on one living here can remember of anything like it in the history of this home.

"It started early last week with rumors coming over the grapevine that there was to be a big doings on Saturday night. You couldn't pin anyone down on it, but those in the know just looked wise and said: 'You'll see, get ready for a big time.'

"It was a hot day, around 90 degrees in the shade, and toward evening things began to happen. There was a gang of men husking sweet corn outside the big kitchen and a grill was soon erected and a big firewas going merrily and picnic tables were placed on the front lawn under the big trees. It was a perfect place for a picnic.

"You would have thought everyone was going to a wedding. The men all shaved and dressed up fit to kill and the ladies, not to be outdone by a bunch of men, were dressed in their Sunday best and those gals really looked nice. That's for sure.

"Five o'clock came at last. Everyone who was able was present. You should have seen them

Contracts Let For Cafeteria Bread, Milk

Contracts to supply milk and bread to the Westgate Junior High School cafeteria for the coming school term were let by the city Board of Education Monday night.

The board also accepted the resignations of three teachers and a custodian. Employed were two high school teachers, a custodian and a bus driver.

Golden Star Dairy's bid of 6-¾ cents for a half-pint of white milk in paper containers was accepted as the low bid. Vernon Dell dairy bid 7 cents.

The Goddard Bakery Co. of Chester will supply bread and buns. Its bid was lower than three other bakeries. Goddard's low bid was 14 cents for a loaf of bread, 23 cents for a dozen of sandwich buns and 23 cents for wiener buns.

Other bidders were: Schwebel's, 15 cents for bread, and 26 cents for buns; Keystone Bakery, 16½ cents for bread, and 28 cents for buns, and Ward Bakery, 15 cents for bread, and 26 cents for buns.

Employed by the board as high school teachers were Keith Langdon and Carol Hand. William T. McGrew was hired as a custodian and John Cupp as a bus driver, both contracts being effective Monday.

Resignations accepted were those of Mrs. Alice Goodwin and Mrs. Margaret Huey, elementary teachers, and Ronald Boris, a high school instructor, and William Headley, a custodian.

Supt. Ralph Betts said permission was granted for Karen Woolley and Linda Lowers from the Beaver Local School District to attend East Liverpool schools.

In other business, the board discussed the results of high school tests and filled out a questionnaire sent by the Ohio School Boards Association from Columbus.

The questionnaire was in connection with the OSBA's plan of developing legislative programs for the coming school year.

The board marked "yes" on questions asking if the state should assume a greater share of financial responsibility for public education; the factors contained in the Foundation Program as enacted by the 103rd General Assembly should be so revised as to achieve a greater degree of financial equalization among districts and that expenditures for capital improvements could be financed from local taxes if a higher percentage of school operating expenses would be provided by state funds.

The board checked a "no" on the question of "Do you think Ohio's tax structure should be broadened to prevent an increase in the school tax burden now being carried by real estate?"

Salem Printer Gets Contract For Fall Ballot

The Dodge Publishing Co. of Salem was given a $6,618.50 contract Monday night by the County Election Board to furnish ballots for the Nov. 3 general election.

It was the second time the board had received offers on the printing job, as bids filed Aug. 10 were rejected as "excessive."

The Dodge concern's new bid covers increased requirements that developed because of the boost in the number of special questions and issues between July 20—the first call for bids—and Aug. 11, when the second set of specifications was drawn up. The original specifications called for ballots for 17 questions and issues. That number had jumped to 25 when the board drafted the specifications under which the second call for bids was issued.

In the first bidding, Dodge made an offer of $6,342. Its new bid is up $300 because of eight additional ballots that will be required, the board said.

The only other bid last night came from the Wilson Printing Co. of East Liverpool. The offer was reduced by $14 from the first quotation of $8,314, making the new total $8,300, but the bid was based on the original specifications—not taking into account the additional eight ballots, the board said.

In connection with its bid, Dodge furnished a quotation of $10 to $12 per 1,000—depending upon size and quantity—for any additional questions and issues ballots the board will require. Wilson's bid for the additional ballots was $19 per $1,000.

Dodge submitted a $13,237 performance bond in connection with its bid. Ballots must be available by Sept. 4 for members of the armed forces and civilians residing temporarily outside the United States, the Election Board said.

There are about half a dozen major questions scheduled for a vote. They include a $989,000 bond issue for a new county home; a referendum on an East Liverpool income tax ordinance; a Salem initiative ordinance to give policemen $40-a-month raises; a Madison Township vote on sale of spirituous liquor by the glass and a Fairfield-Waterford School District vote on a proposed territorial transfer that would dissolve the school district.

Postal Inspectors Hunt Missing Money

The bag with the money disappeared early this month after it was received at the Liberty, N.Y., post office for shipment to the Federal Reserve Bank here.

Joseph Fersch, bank president, said his bank had a receipt from the post office for the money.

Postal authorities said the bag may have been misplaced or misdirected.

Fire Chief May Resign New Cumberland Post

NEW CUMBERLAND — The resignation of Elmer S. Bailey, 710 2nd Ave., as fire chief is expected to be tendered to Town Council at its meeting tonight.

Bailey, one of the Hancock County's oldest fire chiefs in point of service, served in the county seat from 1930 to 1937 and began his present term in 1955.

Reports indicate that the 62-year-old Weirton Steel Co. worker is resigning because of "a lack of cooperation with town officials." However, he was not available for comment today.

170 In UAW Strike

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—About 170 United Auto Workers Union members went on strike here Monday at the Joyce-Cridland Co., makers of jacks and hydraulic lifts. An issue in efforts to settle on a contract replacing one expired June 2 are supplemental unemployment benefits and a joint-administered pension plan. Company officials said the union backed down on agreement on a three-year collective bargaining arrangement and a 26½-cents - per-hour-per-worker package in wage boosts, SUB and pension increases. The strike halted production at the plant.

Tax Penalty Due Hancock

The Hancock County school system stands to lose $20,578 as a tax penalty for the fiscal year, according to the Board of School Finance at Charleston.

One-fifth of the state's counties are expected to lose some state school aid because of low property assessments.

The board yesterday put the loss to the 11 counties at $395,253.

The estimate was based on figures submitted by county Boards of Education. The exact amount won't be known until official assessments come in November.

Penalties are imposed when assessments fall short of the required 50 per cent of appraised values. They are proportionate to the deficiency.

Twenty - four counties, not 11, would be facing penalties if it weren't for a law passed by the last Legislature. This was designed to correct for the effects of the constitutional amendment of the preceding fall which exempted money and bank deposits from taxation.

Because the appraisals used for figuring this fiscal year's state school aid were made before the amendment, they run too high, including a type of property no longer subject to taxation.

The corrective legislation calls for the use of assessments of last year for Class I property instead of those for this year for any county where the result would be the reduction or elimination of a penalty.

Without the legislation, the aid loss to counties would have run about three times higher, it was estimated.

Breakthrough Hinted To Harness H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)— A possible breakthrough in the search for a way to harness an H-bomb reaction for peaceful purposes has been reported by the Naval Research Laboratory.

Dr. W. R. Faust, who described the work Monday, was cautious in appraising it but said it was a step forward.

The problem in harnessing the H-bomb reaction comes in heating heavy hydrogen gas to a tremendous temperature — in this case 28 million degrees — until its atoms fuse and release energy, and then containing the gas long enough for the fusion to take place.

Faust said Dr. Alan Kolb succeeded in containing the gas longer than previously reported for such a high density gas.

18 Children Register In Chester Play School

Some 18 pre-school-age children registered Monday for the Chester play school to begin Aug. 31. Classes will be held Monday through Friday from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

The school is sponsored by the Chester Junior Women's Club. The quota is 25 pupils. Parents wishing to enroll children should contact Mrs. Clayton Hobbs Jr., school chairman, at EV. 7-0105.

Mrs. Lorna Wilson will be the teacher. Registration was held yesterday in the American Legion Post 121.

Station Wagon Bought For Children's Home

The Board of Trustees of the Hancock County Children's Home met Monday night in the Courthouse and accepted the bid of $1,570 of the Cattrell Motor Co. in Weirton for a nine-passenger Ford station wagon.

The trustees also accepted a $25 donation from Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Weinstein of Weirton, who visited the home near Pughtown Sunday.

Cyrus Spear, executive secretary, reported that 283 quarts of fruits and vegetables have been canned for use this winter. Seven attended. Absent were Lyle Virden, Clay District commissioner, and Dave Frew. Dave N. Thomas of Weirton, president, presided.

The next meeting is Sept. 21 at 7:30 p. m. in the Courthouse, Spear said.

Officers were installed by Mrs. Twyla Finley, past president of the auxiliary of Chester American Legion Post 121 and presently department historian of West Virginia.

Mrs. LaNeve, a charter member, was the first member ever elected president twice. She served as president in 1957-58. She succeeds Mrs. Virginia Kline.

Councilman William Y. Orr said the Maine Blvd. stretch could be served by extending a sewer line about a block and a half from Haywood St. via Cross St. and through an alley to complete the tie-in.

"The place they're interested in apparently was over-looked in the original plans," Orr said. "The engineer says the only thing we can do is sit tight until the current project is completed. I agree that the extension of the line is the only answer."

Council referred to the finance committee a request from the Board of Public Utilities for an $8,000 appropriation to complete its current project for removal of a 12-inch water line on Pennsylvania Ave., which is linked with the current resurfacing of the "Hill Rd." The board also asked authority to buy 846 feet of new 12-inch pipe.

Councilman George E. Willshaw, chairman, said the finance committee already has approved the request, as the water department has the funds available. The ordinance committee was asked to prepare the necessary legislation.

Emmett Blake, 1830 Allison St., appeared in person to ask work on rough stretches of Gardendale and Allison Sts. He said a two-block stretch of Gardendale Ave. from St. Clair Ave. to Allison St. "is in very bad condition" and there are rough stretches in Allison St.

Council President B. E. Warner commented that citizens will obtain much more rapid action on routine requests for street work if they are given direct to the director's office instead of being held up for Council meetings. The director's office has a system under which work orders are given direct to the street department when a complaint is received, he explained.

"I think that might be good for all the citizens to know, although we're always glad to hear their requests," he said.

Raymond Boyd of Cleveland Ave. appeared to protest closing of a stretch of street between Walters St. and Cleveland Ave. He said it hampers access for some nearby property-owners.

Safety-Service Director Joseph W. Ross said the city barricaded the little-used stretch because it was considered a safety hazard, plus the fact it was feared traffic would damage a brick gutter on the narrow street. However, the city is willing to reconsider the closing "if they are good reasons," he added.

Emery Dexter of Drain St. complained about drainage conditions on Drain St. at Allison St. He said three storm sewer drops there are blocked. Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr., chairman, said the street committee will investigate today or Wednesday.

The finance committee was given a request for $100 to pay the expenses of Chief Charles Bryan in attending the annual Pennsylvania Fire School Aug. 3-10 at Lewistown. The director also requested $300 to send three assistant chiefs to an Ohio Arson School at Columbus Sept. 14-18.

Council received an invitation from the Ohio Municipal League to attend the 8th annual Ohio Municipal Conference Sept. 16-18 at Akron. Discussion will include municipal income taxes, zoning and planning, financing of capital improvements and integration of fire and police departments. One of the prinicpal speakers will be Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Councilman Samuel B. Webber suggested that Council consider some method of safe-guarding its records, which are kept in steel filing cabinets and bound volumes in the caucus room and the clerk's office on the second floor of City Hall. Use of microfilm might help guard against fire or theft, he added.

Sample said an investigation was made several years ago and asked Clerk Raymond Goodman for details. Goodman said the earlier check showed microfilming would cost about $1,000, plus a few hundred dollars more for a viewer for the tiny film and storage cabinets. He said he also checked in the cost of rebinding old record volumes and found it would total about the same as microfilming. The project was dropped for lack of money. Warner suggested the finance committee "keep the project in mind" in case funds ever become available.

Webber also asked the administration to "contact the owners of the lot at W. 5th and Jefferson Sts. and see what can be done to improve its appearance." The weed-grown lot is at the northwest corner of the intersection. It was acquired a few years ago by two professional men who tore down a home and said they had plans to erect a new structure.

Webber reported requests for the city to trim evergreens in the divider strip in the middle of the W. 8th St. "super-road" at Lisbon St. They obscure the view of drivers turning left off W. 8th onto Lisbon, he said. Webber also requested use of the city's mechanical street sweeper in downtown sections of his ward, the Fourth.

Orr said he has received many telephone calls from Beechwood residents about excavation of streets for a sanitary sewer project. The contractor will be required to restore the streets to their former condition, he said.

Sample reported the street committee has approved a request for a new street light on Logan St. The engineer was given a drawing of Plat No. 3 of the Fisher Park Addition submitted by R. E. Hoopes of Donora, the developer. He asked that the plat be accepted by the city. Of the 56 lots in the area, 38 already are privately-owned and many of them have been built upon, Hoopes said in a letter to Council.

Chief Bryan said he was asked by Council a few weeks ago about the sharp turn at Fenton and Ridgeway Aves. A check showed the turn is so sharp that fire trucks must back to negotiate it, the chief said.

The first car ran off the road and overturned and the second car, containing those injured, then slid off the left side of the rain-slickened highway and upset, according to Pennsylvania police.

Apparently no one in the first car was hurt and police did not identify the occupants. Junius Strouss, 60, was driving the second car in the mishap at 10 a. m. Both were traveling south.

The Carnegie barracks also reported another accident on Route 168 near the Kendall intersection at 1 p. m. which involved three cars driven by Eugene Petricca, 16, of Burgettstown R. D. 2, Stanley J. Ference, 29, of Willowick, Ohio, and Nicholas Ritz, 26, of Akron.

Police said Petricca skidded trying to stop for cars in front of him at the intersection and hit Ference's car, then Ritz's car. No injuries were reported.

The hospital reported Mrs. Frances Encopera, 36, of Canton was treated and released Tuesday about 3:45 p. m. for a lacerated right ankle and abrasions of the right arm and shoulder after her car was hit by a truck on Route 168. Carnegie police had no information on the accident.

the St. Clair project after discussing it with City Engineer George S. Bloomgren and obtaining his estimates of material costs. The work presumably would cover the badly-deterioratd stretch of pavement from the Riverview Cemetery entrance to the city limits.

The stretch has been a headache to both motorists and city maintenance crews for nearly 10 years. In the early 1950's, Council advanced two plans to resurface the street with property-owners sharing the cost, but the idea was rejected both times by the residents.

"The engineer feels the work can do a reasonable job of preserving what we have there in the way of paving and eliminate a terrific maintenance problem," Ross said. He said it is expected to last "at least one winter and possibly for two."

Total expenditures for the Department in 1789 were only $632,804.

The squirrel entered the Flora Mae Beauty Shop, 208 E. 5th St., shortly before going to the bank. Mrs. Flora Mae Miller, owner, said the squirrel ran up the steps from the street, entering the establishment. She said it crawled over chairs and various equipment but would not allow anyone to get near it. It finally went out on the window sill and jumped to the ground from the second story. She said she thought it was a large rat when she first saw it.

The contingent fund could be maintained on an annual basis, with the department giving an accounting on its use at the end of each year, the letter said. With establishment of the fund, the department would not need to approach Council each time it required money for a purpose not covered in the annual appropriation ordinance, the letter added.

tree to head him back to his natural habitat. He said the squirrel obviously was not a pet and that it apparently wandered into the downtown area via large tree on E. 4th St. The capture was made about 11:10.

The squirrel entered the Flora Mae Beauty Shop, 208 E. 5th St., shortly before going to the bank. Mrs. Flora Mae Miller, owner, said the squirrel ran up the steps from the street, entering the establishment. She said it crawled over chairs and various equipment but would not allow anyone to get near it. It finally went out on the window sill and jumped to the ground from the second story. She said she thought it was a large rat when she first saw it.

ual contingent fund" that could be used in the future for unforeseen expenses.

The contingent fund could be maintained on an annual basis, with the department giving an accounting on its use at the end of each year, the letter said. With establishment of the fund, the department would not need to approach Council each time it required money for a purpose not covered in the annual appropriation ordinance, the letter added.

Steel Hands In Velvet Gloves

From now until Labor Day — and beyond then if the steel strike continues — President Eisenhower will be swamped with volunteers wanting to help him get the Steelworkers back on their jobs.

Most of these cheerful helpers will be in politics, or on the fringe of politics. All of them will have an eye fixed on the main chance, which is the credit they hope to win for themselves by helping to break a deadlock in the steel industry's labor relations.

The most massive meddling to date is a move by 32 Democratic senators led by Missouri's Stuart Symington to frame and adopt a resolution that would put the White House into the steel strike, all the way up to Harry Truman's famous "back porch."

It supposedly is being offset by two Republican senators, George D. Aiken of Vermont and Jacob K. Javits of New York, who are merely proposing that the White House tell what Labor Secretary Mitchell has turned up in his fact-finder role.

But the political fact of life here is that the Aiken - Javits move to put Mitchell on the spot is as ill-advised as the Symington proposal to put the White House on the spot.

President Eisenhower does not want either his administration or his own office to become involved directly in the pulling and hauling over a new contract in the steel industry.

THE PRESIDENT has rejected the policy of his two predecessors that the federal government should be a third party in every negotiation over a labor contract.

He has embraced the policy that collective bargaining should be a negotiation entered into and carried on in good faith between management and labor, with the federal government playing the role of chairman and mediator — never the role of participant.

From the presidential point of view, contrary to a bland and cynical assumption that Mr. Eisenhower is only biding his time to utter a peremptory command that would stop the strike, the steel industry must talk itself out of the deadlock it has talked itself into.

The President's only concern is that national defense should not be penalized by the deadlock, and so far this has caused no concern. It is more than likely that this is the one thing above all else that Secretary Mitchell is watching in his official fact-finding chore.

It is likely he may have filed away still another fact that will loom large in presidential thinking about the problems created by a steel strike.

BACK IN THE ERA when John L. Lewis, president of United Mine Workers, was developing much of the strategy of modern bargaining, the union learned how to use the strike to regularize the supply of coal above the ground.

It did not matter to Mr. Lewis what arguments and pressures were brought to bear on him to get the miners back to work. He ran his strikes with a hard head and a view to supply and demand. There was no sentimentality. Mr. Lewis was all business.

If the steel industry, as the result of increasing its potential capacity, finally has arrived at a point where the choice in a showdown is between working a shorter week and a shorter year, it should not surprise anyone if it always chooses to work a shorter year. It is more efficient to close down than to slow down.

The year 1959, with a contract expiring, may prove to have been the year when this became obvious to management, to labor and to the U.S. secretary of labor.

A Motorist Must Start Somewhere

If Gov. DiSalle has enough money in sight to give local road maintenance what it needs for the next two years, his expected veto of a $2.50 increase in license fees for passenger cars, with similar increases for other motor vehicles, will be justifiable.

The purpose of this particular proposal was to make certain that local road maintenance did not come out short in the all-around spending program for modern highways. It was contended that the increases specified in the proposal would have raised 15 million dollars —enough to help the counties and townships over frost damage and wear-and-tear not covered by their foreseeable revenue under existing laws.

There has come to be a gnawing worry about this—that public officials may become so obsessed with the roads of tomorrow they will neglect the roads of today. The billions and millions earmarked for superhighways will produce, in time, an eye-popping network of divided-lane, limited-access highways with easy grades, sweeping curves and all the improvements known to men.

But if the roads and highways of today are allowed to go to pot for lack of maintenance, Ohio and every other state with a maintenance problem could end up with something like the big-city slums that fester at the back doors of high-rent apartment houses.

Motorists must start somewhere to get to the highways of tomorrow. For every hour they will spend driving on one of the ideal table-top roads, they will spend a thousand hours on ordinary streets. And if the ordinary streets are progressively starved for maintenance because the extraordinary new highways are more dramatic and appealing, it will be a bad deal for motorists.

There is only one way they can justify the taxes they're already paying and the even-higher taxes ahead—by self-interest. They save money by spending money. Good roads cut operating costs, which is why commercial truck operators are willing to pay turnpike tolls

We hope Ohio's governor has enough money in sight to be sure local road maintenance will not suffer if he vetoes a proposal to increase license fees. It has taken Ohio a long, long time to get started on large-scale road-building. Much of the gain would be cancelled out if it neglects its small-scale projects for lack of funds.

When Americans Needed A Snorter

It is probable the United States would have shattered Japanese naval power in the Pacific without William F. Halsey. But the admiral with the nickname "Bull" made the prospect of victory seem plausible long before it could have plausible without his tactics and attitude.

"Bull" Halsey's killer methods were put into effect at a psychologically critical time. The United States had lost confidence in its military leadership. The disaster at Pearl Harbor had cut the ground from under the prestige of both the Army and Navy, but especially the Navy.

It had left the impression that the Navy high command might lack equipment to do what needed to be done, even if it could find the right leadership. There was a lot of whistling in the dark in the early '40s. But leadership like Halsey's changed things.

Halsey snorted and pawed the ground; hence his nickname. He inspired the people under his command, and he inspired the people who heard about his outfit's deeds. More than any other militarist, with the exception of Gen. George S. Patton Jr., Halsey made it seem plausible that the United States would discover within its resources the neglected qualities that had won a revolution and settled a civil war. Americans quit whistling in the dark.

Halsey was perhaps more legend than reality in some of the things his fellow citizens learned to expect him to do. But the reality was sufficient unto the job to be done, and he did it with a verve that endeared him to a nation in doubt as no military leader had endeared himself since another famous snorter who pawed the ground, Ulysses S. Grant.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

So many boys and girls are making marriage a pre-induction course to college, or marrying while in school, that a convention of educators just cited it as a college problem. For generations kids could wait until after the graduation ceremonials but today it's a gallop from "Here Comes The Bride" to "There Goes The Groom."

In many colleges a triple-threat student has to be one who can score in the classroom, football stadium and domestic circle.

A football star who misses a signal may do so because his mind is on rent and groceries instead of goal posts and cross bars. Conversely he may freeze the wife by, "Of course I love you, honey but I've got to be fair to the athletic committee and coach."

There must be times when he answers a tough professor by a despairing, "How can you expect me to make the honor list when I forget things on my wife's grocery list?"

COLLEGE CONVENTION SPEAKERS say 10 to 25 per cent of coed college students today are married before or soon after arriving on the campus. Schools are finding Mendelssohn a more powerful influence than the faculty. Too often a girl and boy wed in college are soon separated, with the girl quitting to take a job and help her man get a diploma, educators said. When the husband comes home to the wife intellectually left up the stretch, it leads to tensions, frustrations and divorce.

Maybe so. The happy home is taking it on the chin when a wife who has been working like a slave to help her mate through college hears him crack, "Your education has been neglected, my sweet. What happened?"

Watch the situation, college prexies! It will be a bad day when young married couples can blame domestic bust ups on a university.

HOUSEWIFE HAS WON a jet cruise around the world in a supermarket contest. But even after all this travel she may not be able to locate a shelf holding her special brand of canned beans. If the supermarket has heart it will send her husband along or put him up in a good restaurant while she is away. (Imagine a woman going to grocery store for a loaf of bread and getting a jet plane!)

Death of Joe Crowley, famed Yale football star, ended a story right out of an O'Neill tragedy. Crowley was a happy-go-lucky, handsome kid when he arrived at Yale. In him "Tad" Jones saw the talents of old-time Eli stars. At Jones' home he met Tad's daughter, a whirlwind romance followed, with a society wedding and Joe going to heights of business success with father-in-law's oil corporation. Then tragedy in the O'Neill vein struck. Crowley and Tad Jones' son went to Japan on business trip. Young Jones was found dead in room after night of gaiety in Tokyo. There were stories of a fight between him and Crowley. Japanese courts freed Crowley after a year and Crowley came home buoyant and hopeful. But he was found dead in bed from sleeping pills, within a few weeks, and a coroner's verdict was that it was not suicide but due to the year's grim ordeal which left him unable to sleep without barbituates.

A Too Helpful Neighbor?

Reds Make Hay In The Belgian Congo

By Victor Riesel

STANLEYVILLE, Belgian Congo In less than two hours from this Congo River steamboat waterfront you can fly high above the mines which gave the United States the uranium for the Hiroshima bomb. Or you can fly backward in time, as I did, and hear the jungle chants, sit in a cavern along with thousands of bats and see Bantu tribal dances. Or you can take the old river queens five days up the Congo to Leopoldville and the graves of more than 175 Africans killed in political rioting.

Victor Riesel

As you steam towards the Atlantic, you pass African villages in which millions of natives live and die without ever going more than three or four miles from their mud huts. Yet the Congo and the Zambesi Rivers are as much our frontiers as the Belgians'—and as vital as the Mississippi.

ADMITTEDLY this is a tough concept to prove. But there is a skeleton Communist organization in the Congo. I have before me a message to the Congolese written by Moscow's World Federation of Trade Unions—described by Allan Dulles' Central Intelligence Agency as the Soviets' global machinery for capturing all free world labor and sabotaging all U.S. bases and vital sources.

This message pledges the WFTU's "solidarity" to the "workers and people of the Congo."

What can Moscow do in the Congo, you say. Well, it isn't all jungle and Tarzan. It's cobalt—for the biggest of big bombs and vital research. There's gold, silver, copper, cadmium, radium, precious woods, manganese, lead, diamonds, platinum and uranium.

It isn't jungle. There are over 1,200,000 industrial workers out of some 13 million people. And when you exclude the Pygmies and rain forest dwellers, this averages to one out of every 10 Africans here.

Scores of thousands of this African industrial proletariat are out of work. Those who are earning their daily mealy mush get an average wage of about $4.75 a week. These workers are married. They have families. They try to send their youngsters to school. That's hard to do on less than five bucks a week.

Yet this is really not the country's average. There are reports here that fully half the population of the Congo has no real way to earn a living and is out of work much of the time. They live off the land or their tribal relatives.

In this sort of poverty, no Communist propagandist or "agitprop" —agitation-propagandist — will try to sell Communism. He'll peddle unrest, especially among the young men.

There is an old Council of Government report here which lists the possessions an African bachelor should be able to acquire, if he works.

ACCORDING to this dusty report, he should be able to pile up a cake of soap a week, six packages of matches, 12 litres of gasoline and a "luxury" item, one pack of cigarettes. That's to start. In one year he should have a knife, a plate, a glass, a bowl, two shirts, a jacket, a pair of shoes and a rain coat. At the end of two years, he should have two pans, two basins and a pail.

In five years, or "eventually," he should be able to buy a bicycle. That's vital. In Africa, a worker walks miles in the dark hours before dawn and late into the night to get to and from work without a bike to save bus fare.

Over in Uganda you see virtually every working native with one—and they cost $60. You see mighty few in the Congo.

All this the skilled handful of Communists are beginning to exploit. Against the skilled operative the responsible African Congolese leaders, the few there are, have mighty little with which to fight.

THE RESPONSIBLE Africans can find few educated lieutenants. The Belgians, you see, built roads, ports, railroads and cities — but few schools.

The Brussels government denied the Congolese more than schooling. There has been no vote. There has been a ban on political activity. Thus there is no national electoral system or political party in the Congo.

There are few African movements of consequence. When unrest breaks into deadly and almost mysterious and incomprehensible rioting, the Belgian government has no organized Congolese groups or Congo Belgians on whom to call for moral help. They have no persuasive power. Back in Brussels, the minister for the Belgian Congo and Uranda-Urundi has to dispatch tough fighting troops.

Belgian commandos and paratroopers are in the Congo — and the Communists are saying in messages across the world, if other nations can use troops to keep order, why does everybody excite himself over Tibet and Hungary?

Business With Courtesy

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON Things worked out neatly for President Eisenhower.

Now he can fry a couple of kinds of fish—by mixing business with courtesy—when he goes to Europe later this month. The courtesy part used to bother him.

Some of Europe's crowned and government heads have visited him these past few years. Naturally, if he went to Europe, he would be expected to repay the visits.

But to make the rounds might keep him as much as six weeks away from the United States, or so he thought.

Then he got tangled up with Premier Nikita Khrushchev and things straightened out.

First, there was French President Charles de Gaulle, who looks upon himself as a symbol of French dignity and is forever worrying about preserving it.

For some time Eisenhower had wanted to meet the Frenchman in an effort to settle some problems but there was no sign De Gaulle would come here.

Eisenhower doesn't worry as much as De Gaulle about protocol —or the question of who visits whom first.

But then he ran into his problem: If he set foot in Europe he has other visits to repay and they would take time.

While this was going through Eisenhower's mind, the President worked out his deal with Khrushchev for an exchange of visits, starting in mid-September.

This created another problem.

An Eisenhower-Khrushchev visit is the kind of thing that might jitter American allies with visions of secret deals, since their two countries dominate the Communist and non-Communist worlds.

To make sure the allies got no such notion, Eisenhower decided to go to Europe and reassure them.

So, while he was in Europe, Eisenhower could repay some of the courtesy visits but, since he'd have to be back fairly soon to meet Khrushchev, his courtesy calls wouldn't take those six weeks he used to have in mind.

He will fly first to West Germany to see Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Thedor Heuss. Both had called on him here, Adenauer in 1957, Heuss the next year.

Then the President will scoot back to London, fly to Scotland to see Queen Elizabeth who visited him in 1957. This will be a brief session.

The President goes back to London then for meetings with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who called on him last March after visiting Khrushchev in Moscow.

From London Eisenhower goes to Paris to confer with De Gaulle. This may last several days. The two men have a lot to talk about. De Gaulle isn't easy to talk to.

The President probably won't have time for other stop-offs to repay visits by Belgian King Baudouin, by Sweden's Prince Bertil and by Norway's Princess Astrid.

It is possible Eisenhower, after visiting Khrushchev later this year, will find time for some other stops on the way back.

He has been talking of making goodwill visits in other places around the world before his presidency ends in January 1961.

Power By Public Opinion

By David Lawrence

Party Lines Forgotten In Labor Action

Something of epochal importance happened when the House of Representatives last Friday passed a law aimed at stopping abuses of power by labor unions. It was not merely on the merits of the issue that the vote is a notable record but it was a demonstration of the power of public opinion to cut through party lines.

David Lawrence

The nation had given to the Democratic party in the 1958 election overwhelming control of the House of Representatives. Yet the President, a Republican, was able to persuade the people that their representatives in the House should support the measure he favored. Not so long ago some writers were cavalierly dismissing Mr. Eisenhower as a "weak" executive because, not being eligible under the Constitution to be a candidate for re - election, he couldn't influence Congress by promises of appointments and other favors. But this was a superficial view. It was based on a failure to read carefully the pages of American history.

Presidents like Theodore Roosevelt led even in the second term because they were able to sway public opinion. Mr. Eisenhower, precisely because he cannot run for office again, is looked upon as disinterested.

FOR NEARLY TWO YEARS now he has insisted that there must be reform legislation to curb abuses in the labor-management field. The Democratic-controlled Congress, influenced to no small extent by Northern Democrats who are closely affiliated with labor unions, was hestitant to enact any laws dealing effectively with the abuses exposed by the Senate's investigating committee. A plainly dilatory attitude was manifested by the Democratic leadership in the Senate, which acted in 1958 only when it was apparent that it was too late to get the measure through the House at that session.

The President, counselled by Secretary of Labor Mitchell, insisted on keeping the issue before the people. A bill was drawn up and presented at the start of the current session of Congress. It was prepared by the secretary of labor.

Though Mr. Mitchell has been looked upon as somewhat inclined to be a partisan of the labor union cause—especially because of his refusal to endorse wholeheartedly the right - to - work doctrine—he turned out to be a true friend of both labor and management by persistently urging that a measure be passed to deal with the flagrant abuses exposed by the McClellan committee.

The labor union leaders who opposed the administration measures never made a bigger mistake. They failed to see that statesmanship really demanded their support of the reform measure. Instead, they cried out that the bill would hurt "legitimate unionism." This was like saying that legitimately operated unions could not function if certain abuses were corrected and that the country had to pay the price of enduring indefinitely the hardships imposed by the criminal and racketeering element just because of the theoretical objections of other labor leaders.

TOO MANY RANK-AND-FILE union members have held the same view. Unions, to them, are sacrosanct — a sort of supergovernment. Union officers wield the power to tax every employe in a plant and make him pay dues and assessments without his consent. Union officers determine that a worker must be fired if he refuses to join a union. Union officers decide whether dues money shall be used to help elect a party or a candidate that the worker himself may oppose. Many unions do not permit a secret ballot on vital issues.

Such absolutism has not yet run its course but the bill passed last Friday by the House of Representatives, far from swinging the balance away from the unions toward the employer, actually swings it away from the racketeering union leader or the craven employer toward the worker by preserving his civil rights.

The country owes a debt of gratitude to many Democrats from the South. It was they who joined with Northern Republicans in a coalition that has managed on other occasions, too, in the last several years to save America from the depredations of a radical and spendthrift bloc of so-called "liberals" who profess to be in favor of human rights but who actually vote to give monopoly powers to special groups which help them to win elections with big campaign funds.

Efforts will be made by this same group to water down the labor-reform legislation just passed by the House. But the public will be alerted to the battle and, if the Senate fails to act, the Republicans will go to the country in 1960 with the best issue they have had in years.

The nation once saw laws passed to punish wicked corporations when they usurped power and it will insist on the same treatment now for those who betray the workers by conducting autocratic unions and setting up one-man dictatorships which brazenly use methods that are plainly violative of individual rights.

Set For Time Being

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK The nation's construction industry—mainstay during the recession and bellwether of the recovery—reports some projects halted or being delayed by the steel strike.

But the majority of builders and their suppliers say they either have all the steel they need for current projects or have supplies good for one to four months more.

A check throughout the nation by Associated Press reporters, however, reveals wide variations in supplies among firms and a growing fear that some special steel products may run out or that some suppliers or parts may run into trouble and thus grind operations to a halt.

Also some firms are turning to substitutes for steel, paying higher prices for premium steel, or importing from Europe and Japan.

Projects already halted or delayed are largely in the nature of flukes.

One company planning a building in Kansas City ordered structural steel so far in advance that by the time of the strike the building plans had been changed. The company now is offering the steel it can't use to anyone who can.

A small highway bridge near Austin, Minn., is delayed because the contractor ordered the steel early enough but forgot to get it out of the mill before the pickets arrived.

An Orlando, Fla., contractor decided to use precast concrete instead of steel in a department store.

But in most of the country the construction companies are whistling cheerful tunes.

Among those claiming no steel problems at all are: Kentucky's state building program directors; Williamsburg, Va., builders at the College of William and Mary; Illinois state project administrators; and Denver school builders.

Three to six months supplies of steel are reported by: South Florida builders, The Orleans Material and Equipment Co. of New Orleans; Oklahoma City and Tulsa contractors; the Mississippi Valley Structural Steel Co. at St. Louis; and a majority of Texas builders.

The St. Paul Structural Steel Co. says it can last another 10 weeks on present stocks. Baltimore's early steel ordering will carry builders for another two months. Most Indiana firms have plenty now but say another month of strike would hurt.

Seattle says prestrike steel orders will last longer there than some places because most big steel users in Washington were idled before the steel strike by a machinists' work stoppage and because the construction industry has been slowed by its own labor troubles.

And baseball-conscious San Francisco happily notes that its citizens are being lulled into complacency because the 196½-foot beams for the Giants' new park are arriving on schedule.

Steel Hands In Velvet Gloves

From now until Labor Day — and beyond then if the steel strike continues — President Eisenhower will be swamped with volunteers wanting to help him get the Steelworkers back on their jobs.

Most of these cheerful helpers will be in politics, or on the fringe of politics. All of them will have an eye fixed on the main chance, which is the credit they hope to win for themselves by helping to break a deadlock in the steel industry's labor relations.

The most massive meddling to date is a move by 32 Democratic senators led by Missouri's Stuart Symington to frame and adopt a resolution that would put the White House into the steel strike, all the way up to Harry Truman's famous "back porch."

It supposedly is being offset by two Republican senators, George D. Aiken of Vermont and Jacob K. Javits of New York, who are merely proposing that the White House tell what Labor Secretary Mitchell has turned up in his fact-finder role.

But the political fact of life here is that the Aiken - Javits move to put Mitchell on the spot is as ill-advised as the Symington proposal to put the White House on the spot.

President Eisenhower does not want either his administration or his own office to become involved directly in the pulling and hauling over a new contract in the steel industry.

THE PRESIDENT has rejected the policy of his two predecessors that the federal government should be a third party in every negotiation over a labor contract.

He has embraced the policy that collective bargaining should be a negotiation entered into and carried on in good faith between management and labor, with the federal government playing the role of chairman and mediator — never the role of participant.

From the presidential point of view, contrary to a bland and cynical assumption that Mr. Eisenhower is only biding his time to utter a peremptory command that would stop the strike, the steel industry must talk itself out of the deadlock it has talked itself into.

The President's only concern is that national defense should not be penalized by the deadlock, and so far this has caused no concern. It is more than likely that this is the one thing above all else that Secretary Mitchell is watching in his official fact-finding chore.

It is likely he may have filed away still another fact that will loom large in presidential thinking about the problems created by a steel strike.

BACK IN THE ERA when John L. Lewis, president of United Mine Workers, was developing much of the strategy of modern bargaining, the union learned how to use the strike to regularize the supply of coal above the ground.

It did not matter to Mr. Lewis what arguments and pressures were brought to bear on him to get the miners back to work. He ran his strikes with a hard head and a view to supply and demand. There was no sentimentality. Mr. Lewis was all business.

If the steel industry, as the result of increasing its potential capacity, finally has arrived at a point where the choice in a showdown is between working a shorter week and a shorter year, it should not surprise anyone if it always chooses to work a shorter year. It is more efficient to close down than to slow down.

The year 1959, with a contract expiring, may prove to have been the year when this became obvious to management, to labor and to the U.S. secretary of labor.

A Motorist Must Start Somewhere

If Gov. DiSalle has enough money in sight to give local road maintenance what it needs for the next two years, his expected veto of a $2.50 increase in license fees for passenger cars, with similar increases for other motor vehicles, will be justifiable.

The purpose of this particular proposal was to make certain that local road maintenance did not come out short in the all-around spending program for modern highways. It was contended that the increases specified in the proposal would have raised 15 million dollars —enough to help the counties and townships over frost damage and wear-and-tear not covered by their foreseeable revenue under existing laws.

There has come to be a gnawing worry about this—that public officials may become so obsessed with the roads of tomorrow they will neglect the roads of today. The billions and millions earmarked for superhighways will produce, in time, an eye-popping network of divided-lane, limited-access highways with easy grades, sweeping curves and all the improvements known to men.

But if the roads and highways of today are allowed to go to pot for lack of maintenance, Ohio and every other state with a maintenance problem could end up with something like the big-city slums that fester at the back doors of high-rent apartment houses.

Motorists must start somewhere to get to the highways of tomorrow. For every hour they will spend driving on one of the ideal table-top roads, they will spend a thousand hours on ordinary streets. And if the ordinary streets are progressively starved for maintenance because the extraordinary new highways are more dramatic and appealing, it will be a bad deal for motorists.

There is only one way they can justify the taxes they're already paying and the even-higher taxes ahead—by self-interest. They save money by spending money. Good roads cut operating costs, which is why commercial truck operators are willing to pay turnpike tolls

We hope Ohio's governor has enough money in sight to be sure local road maintenance will not suffer if he vetoes a proposal to increase license fees. It has taken Ohio a long, long time to get started on large-scale road-building. Much of the gain would be cancelled out if it neglects its small-scale projects for lack of funds.

When Americans Needed A Snorter

It is probable the United States would have shattered Japanese naval power in the Pacific without William F. Halsey. But the admiral with the nickname "Bull" made the prospect of victory seem plausible long before it could have plausible without his tactics and attitude.

"Bull" Halsey's killer methods were put into effect at a psychologically critical time. The United States had lost confidence in its military leadership. The disaster at Pearl Harbor had cut the ground from under the prestige of both the Army and Navy, but especially the Navy.

It had left the impression that the Navy high command might lack equipment to do what needed to be done, even if it could find the right leadership. There was a lot of whistling in the dark in the early '40s. But leadership like Halsey's changed things.

Halsey snorted and pawed the ground; hence his nickname. He inspired the people under his command, and he inspired the people who heard about his outfit's deeds. More than any other militarist, with the exception of Gen. George S. Patton Jr., Halsey made it seem plausible that the United States would discover within its resources the neglected qualities that had won a revolution and settled a civil war. Americans quit whistling in the dark.

Halsey was perhaps more legend than reality in some of the things his fellow citizens learned to expect him to do. But the reality was sufficient unto the job to be done, and he did it with a verve that endeared him to a nation in doubt as no military leader had endeared himself since another famous snorter who pawed the ground, Ulysses S. Grant.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

So many boys and girls are making marriage a pre-induction course to college, or marrying while in school, that a convention of educators just cited it as a college problem. For generations kids could wait until after the graduation ceremonials but today it's a gallop from "Here Comes The Bride" to "There Goes The Groom."

In many colleges a triple-threat student has to be one who can score in the classroom, football stadium and domestic circle.

A football star who misses a signal may do so because his mind is on rent and groceries instead of goal posts and cross bars. Conversely he may freeze the wife by, "Of course I love you, honey but I've got to be fair to the athletic committee and coach."

There must be times when he answers a tough professor by a despairing, "How can you expect me to make the honor list when I forget things on my wife's grocery list?"

COLLEGE CONVENTION SPEAKERS say 10 to 25 per cent of coed college students today are married before or soon after arriving on the campus. Schools are finding Mendelssohn a more powerful influence than the faculty. Too often a girl and boy wed in college are soon separated, with the girl quitting to take a job and help her man get a diploma, educators said. When the husband comes home to the wife intellectually left up the stretch, it leads to tensions, frustrations and divorce.

Maybe so. The happy home is taking it on the chin when a wife who has been working like a slave to help her mate through college hears him crack, "Your education has been neglected, my sweet. What happened?"

Watch the situation, college prexies! It will be a bad day when young married couples can blame domestic bust ups on a university.

HOUSEWIFE HAS WON a jet cruise around the world in a supermarket contest. But even after all this travel she may not be able to locate a shelf holding her special brand of canned beans. If the supermarket has heart it will send her husband along or put him up in a good restaurant while she is away. (Imagine a woman going to grocery store for a loaf of bread and getting a jet plane!)

Death of Joe Crowley, famed Yale football star, ended a story right out of an O'Neill tragedy. Crowley was a happy-go-lucky, handsome kid when he arrived at Yale. In him "Tad" Jones saw the talents of old-time Eli stars. At Jones' home he met Tad's daughter, a whirlwind romance followed, with a society wedding and Joe going to heights of business success with father-in-law's oil corporation. Then tragedy in the O'Neill vein struck. Crowley and Tad Jones' son went to Japan on business trip. Young Jones was found dead in room after night of gaiety in Tokyo. There were stories of a fight between him and Crowley. Japanese courts freed Crowley after a year and Crowley came home buoyant and hopeful. But he was found dead in bed from sleeping pills, within a few weeks, and a coroner's verdict was that it was not suicide but due to the year's grim ordeal which left him unable to sleep without barbituates.

A Too Helpful Neighbor?

By Victor Riesel

STANLEYVILLE, Belgian Congo In less than two hours from this Congo River steamboat waterfront you can fly high above the mines which gave the United States the uranium for the Hiroshima bomb. Or you can fly backward in time, as I did, and hear the jungle chants, sit in a cavern along with thousands of bats and see Bantu tribal dances. Or you can take the old river queens five days up the Congo to Leopoldville and the graves of more than 175 Africans killed in political rioting.

Victor Riesel

As you steam towards the Atlantic, you pass African villages in which millions of natives live and die without ever going more than three or four miles from their mud huts. Yet the Congo and the Zambesi Rivers are as much our frontiers as the Belgians'—and as vital as the Mississippi.

ADMITTEDLY this is a tough concept to prove. But there is a skeleton Communist organization in the Congo. I have before me a message to the Congolese written by Moscow's World Federation of Trade Unions—described by Allan Dulles' Central Intelligence Agency as the Soviets' global machinery for capturing all free world labor and sabotaging all U.S. bases and vital sources.

This message pledges the WFTU's "solidarity" to the "workers and people of the Congo."

What can Moscow do in the Congo, you say. Well, it isn't all jungle and Tarzan. It's cobalt—for the biggest of big bombs and vital research. There's gold, silver, copper, cadmium, radium, precious woods, manganese, lead, diamonds, platinum and uranium.

It isn't jungle. There are over 1,200,000 industrial workers out of some 13 million people. And when you exclude the Pygmies and rain forest dwellers, this averages to one out of every 10 Africans here.

Scores of thousands of this African industrial proletariat are out of work. Those who are earning their daily mealy mush get an average wage of about $4.75 a week. These workers are married. They have families. They try to send their youngsters to school. That's hard to do on less than five bucks a week.

Yet this is really not the country's average. There are reports here that fully half the population of the Congo has no real way to earn a living and is out of work much of the time. They live off the land or their tribal relatives.

In this sort of poverty, no Communist propagandist or "agitprop" —agitation-propagandist — will try to sell Communism. He'll peddle unrest, especially among the young men.

There is an old Council of Government report here which lists the possessions an African bachelor should be able to acquire, if he works.

ACCORDING to this dusty report, he should be able to pile up a cake of soap a week, six packages of matches, 12 litres of gasoline and a "luxury" item, one pack of cigarettes. That's to start. In one year he should have a knife, a plate, a glass, a bowl, two shirts, a jacket, a pair of shoes and a rain coat. At the end of two years, he should have two pans, two basins and a pail.

In five years, or "eventually," he should be able to buy a bicycle. That's vital. In Africa, a worker walks miles in the dark hours before dawn and late into the night to get to and from work without a bike to save bus fare.

Over in Uganda you see virtually every working native with one—and they cost $60. You see mighty few in the Congo.

All this the skilled handful of Communists are beginning to exploit. Against the skilled operative the responsible African Congolese leaders, the few there are, have mighty little with which to fight.

THE RESPONSIBLE Africans can find few educated lieutenants. The Belgians, you see, built roads, ports, railroads and cities — but few schools.

The Brussels government denied the Congolese more than schooling. There has been no vote. There has been a ban on political activity. Thus there is no national electoral system or political party in the Congo.

There are few African movements of consequence. When unrest breaks into deadly and almost mysterious and incomprehensible rioting, the Belgian government has no organized Congolese groups or Congo Belgians on whom to call for moral help. They have no persuasive power. Back in Brussels, the minister for the Belgian Congo and Uranda-Urundi has to dispatch tough fighting troops.

Belgian commandos and paratroopers are in the Congo — and the Communists are saying in messages across the world, if other nations can use troops to keep order, why does everybody excite himself over Tibet and Hungary?

Business With Courtesy

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON Things worked out neatly for President Eisenhower.

Now he can fry a couple of kinds of fish—by mixing business with courtesy—when he goes to Europe later this month. The courtesy part used to bother him.

Some of Europe's crowned and government heads have visited him these past few years. Naturally, if he went to Europe, he would be expected to repay the visits.

But to make the rounds might keep him as much as six weeks away from the United States, or so he thought.

Then he got tangled up with Premier Nikita Khrushchev and things straightened out.

First, there was French President Charles de Gaulle, who looks upon himself as a symbol of French dignity and is forever worrying about preserving it.

For some time Eisenhower had wanted to meet the Frenchman in an effort to settle some problems but there was no sign De Gaulle would come here.

Eisenhower doesn't worry as much as De Gaulle about protocol —or the question of who visits whom first.

But then he ran into his problem: If he set foot in Europe he has other visits to repay and they would take time.

While this was going through Eisenhower's mind, the President worked out his deal with Khrushchev for an exchange of visits, starting in mid-September.

This created another problem.

An Eisenhower-Khrushchev visit is the kind of thing that might jitter American allies with visions of secret deals, since their two countries dominate the Communist and non-Communist worlds.

To make sure the allies got no such notion, Eisenhower decided to go to Europe and reassure them.

So, while he was in Europe, Eisenhower could repay some of the courtesy visits but, since he'd have to be back fairly soon to meet Khrushchev, his courtesy calls wouldn't take those six weeks he used to have in mind.

He will fly first to West Germany to see Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Thedor Heuss. Both had called on him here, Adenauer in 1957, Heuss the next year.

Then the President will scoot back to London, fly to Scotland to see Queen Elizabeth who visited him in 1957. This will be a brief session.

The President goes back to London then for meetings with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who called on him last March after visiting Khrushchev in Moscow.

From London Eisenhower goes to Paris to confer with De Gaulle. This may last several days. The two men have a lot to talk about. De Gaulle isn't easy to talk to.

The President probably won't have time for other stop-offs to repay visits by Belgian King Baudouin, by Sweden's Prince Bertil and by Norway's Princess Astrid.

It is possible Eisenhower, after visiting Khrushchev later this year, will find time for some other stops on the way back.

He has been talking of making goodwill visits in other places around the world before his presidency ends in January 1961.

Power By Public Opinion

Party Lines Forgotten In Labor Action

Something of epochal importance happened when the House of Representatives last Friday passed a law aimed at stopping abuses of power by labor unions. It was not merely on the merits of the issue that the vote is a notable record but it was a demonstration of the power of public opinion to cut through party lines.

David Lawrence

The nation had given to the Democratic party in the 1958 election overwhelming control of the House of Representatives. Yet the President, a Republican, was able to persuade the people that their representatives in the House should support the measure he favored. Not so long ago some writers were cavalierly dismissing Mr. Eisenhower as a "weak" executive because, not being eligible under the Constitution to be a candidate for re-election, he couldn't influence Congress by promises of appointments and other favors. But this was a superficial view. It was based on a failure to read carefully the pages of American history.

Presidents like Theodore Roosevelt led even in the second term because they were able to sway public opinion. Mr. Eisenhower, precisely because he cannot run for office again, is looked upon as disinterested.

FOR NEARLY TWO YEARS now he has insisted that there must be reform legislation to curb abuses in the labor-management field. The Democratic-controlled Congress, influenced to no small extent by Northern Democrats who are closely affiliated with labor unions, was hestitant to enact any laws dealing effectively with the abuses exposed by the Senate's investigating committee. A plainly dilatory attitude was manifested by the Democratic leadership in the Senate, which acted in 1958 only when it was apparent that it was too late to get the measure through the House at that session.

The President, counselled by Secretary of Labor Mitchell, insisted on keeping the issue before the people. A bill was drawn up and presented at the start of the current session of Congress. It was prepared by the secretary of labor.

Though Mr. Mitchell has been looked upon as somewhat inclined to be a partisan of the labor union cause—especially because of his refusal to endorse wholeheartedly the right - to - work doctrine—he turned out to be a true friend of both labor and management by persistently urging that a measure be passed to deal with the flagrant abuses exposed by the McClellan committee.

The labor union leaders who opposed the administration measures never made a bigger mistake. They failed to see that statesmanship really demanded their support of the reform measure. Instead, they cried out that the bill would hurt "legitimate unionism." This was like saying that legitimately operated unions could not function if certain abuses were corrected and that the country had to pay the price of enduring indefinitely the hardships imposed by the criminal and racketeering element just because of the theoretical objections of other labor leaders.

TOO MANY RANK-AND-FILE union members have held the same view. Unions, to them, are sacrosanct — a sort of supergovernment. Union officers wield the power to tax every employe in a plant and make him pay dues and assessments without his consent. Union officers determine that a worker must be fired if he refuses to join a union. Union officers decide whether dues money shall be used to help elect a party or a candidate that the worker himself may oppose. Many unions do not permit a secret ballot on vital issues.

Such absolutism has not yet run its course but the bill passed last Friday by the House of Representatives, far from swinging the balance away from the unions toward the employer, actually swings it away from the racketeering union leader or the craven employer toward the worker by preserving his civil rights.

The country owes a debt of gratitude to many Democrats from the South. It was they who joined with Northern Republicans in a coalition that has managed on other occasions, too, in the last several years to save America from the depredations of a radical and spendthrift bloc of so-called "liberals" who profess to be in favor of human rights but who actually vote to give monopoly powers to special groups which help them to win elections with big campaign funds.

Efforts will be made by this same group to water down the labor-reform legislation just passed by the House. But the public will be alerted to the battle and, if the Senate fails to act, the Republicans will go to the country in 1960 with the best issue they have had in years.

The nation once saw laws passed to punish wicked corporations when they usurped power and it will insist on the same treatment now for those who betray the workers by conducting autocratic unions and setting up one-man dictatorships which brazenly use methods that are plainly violative of individual rights.

Set For Time Being

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK The nation's construction industry—mainstay during the recession and bellwether of the recovery—reports some projects halted or being delayed by the steel strike.

But the majority of builders and their suppliers say they either have all the steel they need for current projects or have supplies good for one to four months more.

A check throughout the nation by Associated Press reporters, however, reveals wide variations in supplies among firms and a growing fear that some special steel products may run out or that some suppliers or parts may run into trouble and thus grind operations to a halt.

Also some firms are turning to substitutes for steel, paying higher prices for premium steel, or importing from Europe and Japan.

Projects already halted or delayed are largely in the nature of flukes.

One company planning a building in Kansas City ordered structural steel so far in advance that by the time of the strike the building plans had been changed. The company now is offering the steel it can't use to anyone who can.

A small highway bridge near Austin, Minn., is delayed because the contractor ordered the steel early enough but forgot to get it out of the mill before the pickets arrived.

An Orlando, Fla., contractor decided to use precast concrete instead of steel in a department store.

But in most of the country the construction companies are whistling cheerful tunes.

Among those claiming no steel problems at all are: Kentucky's state building program directors; Williamsburg, Va., builders at the College of William and Mary; Illinois state project administrators; and Denver school builders.

Three to six months supplies of steel are reported by: South Florida builders, The Orleans Material and Equipment Co. of New Orleans; Oklahoma City and Tulsa contractors; the Mississippi Valley Structural Steel Co. at St. Louis; and a majority of Texas builders.

The St. Paul Structural Steel Co. says it can last another 10 weeks on present stocks. Baltimore's early steel ordering will carry builders for another two months. Most Indiana firms have plenty now but say another month of strike would hurt.

Seattle says prestrike steel orders will last longer there than some places because most big steel users in Washington were idled before the steel strike by a machinists' work stoppage and because the construction industry has been slowed by its own labor troubles.

And baseball-conscious San Francisco happily notes that its citizens are being lulled into complacency because the 196½-foot beams for the Giants' new park are arriving on schedule.

Steel Strike

tistics of industry and government is of sufficient interest to make it public.

The President has advocated a hands-off treatment of the labor dispute in the key basic industry. President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers Union Monday repeated his formula for ending the strike deadlock: get the top industry leaders to negotiate directly with the union.

McDonald, speaking at an AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting at Forest Park, Pa., suggested Eisenhower could prevail on steel company chiefs to do this.

In New York, a committee of 12 of the struck steel companies bought newspaper advertisements to explain what happened to the industry's record profits of 783 million dollars for the first half of the year.

The advertisements said dividends of 268 million dollars were paid to stockholders for the first half of the year. This compared to 2¼ billion dollars paid out in wages and salaries for the same period.

The ads said about a third of the record total profit was a "phantom profit" used by the companies to cover the inflated cost of replacing tools and facilities.

Another third of the profits, the statement said, went into improvement and enlargement of plants and equipment, working capital, new sources of raw materials, research facilities and improvement of efficiency.

Motorist Fined $45

SUMMITVILLE — Harry Leroy Knight, 24, of Salineville was fined $45 and costs Monday by Acting Mayor Ernest Phillips after he pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge alleging his auto went out of control and overturned Sunday morning, damaging private property.

for all about radio and TV

When television was an infant and a 10-inch screen was something to behold, folks sat starry-eyed and watched everything being offered, good, bad and indifferent!

As in the case when radio was new and alive a few decades past, the newness of television has worn thin. The fascination has all but disappeared. Today television audiences take the medium for granted and expect top-flight programs . . . good all-around programming.

Wise viewers have learned that they can afford to be selective. They turn eagerly to the radio and television pages of the daily East Liverpool Review for a list of helpful and authoritative program advice and complete program listing. That way, they are able to select the programs that interest them most.

They have found, through pleasant reading, that the Review Radio-Television Pages are practically indispensable. They are chocked-full of pertinent program information, glimpses of the television stars and background highlights about top programs.

Constables' Status Aired

Harry Skelton of the Grimms Bridge Rd. was given the oath of office as a constable. He was appointed a week ago.

It was reported that under a new state law all elected constables are eliminated after Nov. 6 and that the trustees then must appoint men to the posts. The trustees then appointed John Jackston of Sub-Station to fill out the year from Nov. 6 to Dec. 31.

Trustees reminded that anyone contacting any of the constables is required to leave his name, address and telephone number if the men are not home.

A member of the Calcutta Improvement Association promised support if a campaign is held to purchase a cruiser for use in the township.

A delegation from Mud Ln. was told the street will be graded in the near future, possibly this week. A request was received to grade "Dump Rd." at Hoppel's Corners.

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. was granted a permit to open a ditch on Summitt Dr. to install a new gas main to provide service for five customers.

A public hearing on the 1960 budget will be held Monday night at the hall.

THIS NEW HOST COMMITTEE has managed to keep the 1960 Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles by accepting the ticket limitations set down by National Chairman Paul Butler. On Petition In Bias Case

Chief Justice Weygandt Warns Stark County Judge

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court issued a sharply worded warning to a Stark County judge after presiding at a hearing on a petition accusing the judge of bias.

The hearing stemmed from a three-year feud between Common Pleas Judge Paul G. Weber and attorney Virgil F. Mills.

After hearing testimony Monday Weygandt told Judge Weber, "Without passing on the truth of these statements . . . if these statements are true, you certainly are in serious trouble and I mean that in a very kindly, fair way.

". . . . If you have conducted yourself as the testimony of Mr. Mills indicates, then you certainly must recognize that the conduct is inconsistent with any kind of judicial service on any court anywhere."

Mills and other witnesses testified that Judge Weber once had the odor of liquor on his breath in court, that he was apparently intoxicated once when he slumped over the wheel of a car in a downtown parking lot and that he once discussed a case publicly before he gave his decision in open court. Judge Weber denied the charges.

Over a period of three years, Mills had filed 29 affidavits of bias and prejudice against Judge Weber. In all but the last, Judge Weber had stepped aside, avoiding a hearing.

He had intended to step aside in the 29th case also, but the letter of withdrawal did not reach the chief justice until after a hearing had been set.

The chief justice said he will not make his journal entry on the hearing until he learns whether a program is set up under which Judge Weber, when he withdraws from a case handled by Mills, accepts an equal number of cases from other judges. Weygandt said he wants to know also whether Judge Weber attends the next conference of Stark County judges, which is expected to be held Friday.

Civil Rights Laws Rapped By Sheriff

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Sheriff Vernon Smith of Lorain County, Ohio, told the Fraternal Order of Police Monday that arresting officers are often harassed by civil rights legislation.

He said the legislation sometimes gives hardened criminals new weapons to evade the law through habeas corpus proceedings against honest officers who arrested them.

The sheriff is chairman of a special committee on human rights set up by the police organization three years ago. He said it was formed when too many officers were becoming defendants in federal civil rights cases.

Smith pointed out that in Philadelphia, Pa., during 1956 alleged civil rights violations led to indictments of 31 policemen. Only one was convicted, but the cost in terms of time and effort lost through investigations and court proceedings caused considerable damage, he added.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Help Child Connect Numbers With Objects

Any child, 5 or six, counts some at play before entering the first grade. He may know the meaning of 2 or 3 as he hears it said, without having been taught these meanings.

By Garry Meyers

Why not encourage him to count?

A good many parents do, but they usually just have him say the number words in order: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, even up to 10 or higher, without his connecting these heard names of numbers with the number of things each stands for. He might be able to spout off these number-names mechanically without having the slightest notion of what they mean.

PERHAPS IT were better not to ask the young child to count at all except when he counts things which are obviously alike—1, 2, 3, 4, potatoes, or oranges, or clothespins.

Have him bring you 2 potatoes or 3 potatoes, 2 oranges or 3 oranges, 2 clothespins or 3 clothespins. Don't try him on 3 until you are sure he knows 2. How absurd to ask him to hand you 5 such things until he can correctly hand you 4, or even to hand you 4 until he can correctly hand you 3!

It's well not to bother him about written or printed symbols before he knows the meaning of the numbers up to five.

However, if he should, on seeing one of these figures or number symbols, ask you what it means, you certainly would tell him. Then you might be tempted to teach him more of them.

IF YOUR child, before entering the first grade, knows the number meanings through five, he has pretty good readiness for number work at school. It would be better, of course, if he also knew all the five number symbols and could write them by hand or on the typewriter.

This child also might have some useful fun by adding one thing to another similar thing to make two, or even to add 2 things and 1 like thing, 2 things and 2 like things, 3 things and 2 like things.

But there is danger of confusing him, danger that you go forward too fast with him; also danger that you make his early number work a chore, thus doing him more harm than good.

Let your slogan be "Easy and accurare."

For the child beyond the first grade my "Home Helps in Arithmetic" may offer you some good suggestions. It may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Help Child Connect Numbers With Objects

Any child, 5 or six, counts some at play before entering the first grade. He may know the meaning of 2 or 3 as he hears it said, without having been taught these meanings.

By Garry Meyers

Why not encourage him to count?

A good many parents do, but they usually just have him say the number words in order: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, even up to 10 or higher, without his connecting these heard names of numbers with the number of things each stands for. He might be able to spout off these number-names mechanically without having the slightest notion of what they mean.

PERHAPS IT were better not to ask the young child to count at all except when he counts things which are obviously alike—1, 2, 3, 4, potatoes, or oranges, or clothespins.

Have him bring you 2 potatoes or 3 potatoes, 2 oranges or 3 oranges, 2 clothespins or 3 clothespins. Don't try him on 3 until you are sure he knows 2. How absurd to ask him to hand you 5 such things until he can correctly hand you 4, or even to hand you 4 until he can correctly hand you 3!

It's well not to bother him about written or printed symbols before he knows the meaning of the numbers up to five.

However, if he should, on seeing one of these figures or number symbols, ask you what it means, you certainly would tell him. Then you might be tempted to teach him more of them.

IF YOUR child, before entering the first grade, knows the number meanings through five, he has pretty good readiness for number work at school. It would be better, of course, if he also knew all the five number symbols and could write them by hand or on the typewriter.

This child also might have some useful fun by adding one thing to another similar thing to make two, or even to add 2 things and 1 like thing, 2 things and 2 like things, 3 things and 2 like things.

But there is danger of confusing him, danger that you go forward too fast with him; also danger that you make his early number work a chore, thus doing him more harm than good.

Let your slogan be "Easy and accurare."

For the child beyond the first grade my "Home Helps in Arithmetic" may offer you some good suggestions. It may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 17 and have been dating a fine boy, 20. Last night I asked him if he ever had an affair. He tried to change the subject. I nagged him until he finally told me about it.

He was only 16 and the woman was a divorcee. He said he saw her only a few times. She got married shortly after that and he hasn't seen her since.

My parents think he's wonderful. Should I tell them about this? I know I'm too young for marriage now, but we've discussed it. Now I wonder if I'd be happy with a man who has a past. What is your opinion?—KIM.

Dear Kim: You had no business pumping your boy friend and he was a boob to tell you. It's not their business either.

Worse Than Truth

Dear Ann: My wife died in childbirth eight years ago. Two years later I married an angelic woman who treated my son as if he were her own. We've since had three children together. Our family is very happy — with only one cloud.

I never told the oldest boy this woman is not his real mother. She's been begging me for three years to tell him but I'm afraid it will be a teriffic emotional blow. I fear, too, the children may feel differently toward him if they learn he's only a half-blood relative.

I say what kids don't know can't hurt them. Since the boy doesn't remember his real mother why dredge up the past? My wife asked me to write to you. What's your advice?—SMOKE SCREEN.

Dear Smoke Screen: The adage, "What you don't know can't hurt you," is a meaningless collection of words. Ignorance is far more dangerous than truth.

Children should be told they are adopted or stepchildren as soon as they're old enough to know what the words mean. Better to grow up with the knowledge than to run the risk of hearing it from an outsider.

Unless you plan to rear this boy under a glass bell you can be sure someone who knows the story will one day tell him. And learning it from someone else could shatter his confidence in you forever.

Slippery Salesman

Dear Ann: Some time ago a magazine salesman who was passing through town with a crew sold me a subscription for $10. I didn't get his name but I have the name of the magazine publisher.

Several months have passed and I haven't received my magazines. The publisher doesn't answer my letters. To whom shall I report this?—CHEATED.

Dear Cheated: Report this to the city attorney's office. It comes under the heading of "confidence games." Also write to the Magazine Publishers Assn., 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, N.Y. They investigate rinky-dink shenanigans of this type and protect the public from racketeers.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

2 From Ohio Laud Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Words of praise for Carl A. Weinman of Steubenville, Ohio, nominated to be a U.S. District Court judge for Southern Ohio, abounded at a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee meeting Monday.

They came from Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) and Rep. Clarence Brown (D-Ohio). The pair strongly endorsed appointment of Weinman, named by President Eisenhower for the post vacated by assignment of Judge Lester L. Cecil to the Sixth District Court of Appeals.

Lausche said when he was governor and he asked Weinman, then a Jefferson County Common Pleas Judge, to instruct a grand jury to investigate vice and gambling complaints. Weinman's response in that instance and in other later contacts with Lausche were exemplary, Ohio's senior senator noted. Lausche added that he has heard "nothing but the finest" about Weinman, "who has the ability" to be a district judge.

Rep. Brown said, "I think he will be one of the outstanding jurists on the federal bench."

Weinman himself took the witness chair later in the subcommittee hearing. No opposition to his appointment was evidenced and the subcommittee is expected soon to recommend approval by the full judiciary committee. The 56-year-old attorney is currently in private practice.

News Media Face Contempt Counts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Common Pleas Judge William K. Thomas has asked that contempt charges be prepared against any news media here which published a report of grand jury indictments before the indictments were actually returned last July 24.

The judge directed a committee of bar association members to prepare charges against the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the Cleveland Press and "any wire service or radio station in Cuyahoga County" that gave advance information on the indictments. The case involved a finance company and an auto dealer who failed to provide titles to purchasers of several cars.

Maximum penalty in a contempt action is a $500 fine and 10 days in jail.

Special Council Meeting Planned

Although City Council's next regular session will not fall until Sept. 21, a special meeting will be held in the long interim — probably next Monday night — to enact a backlog of legislation built up in the summer vacation season.

At the suggestion of President B. E. Warner, councilmen agreed tentatively last night to hold a special session next Monday night at 7 to enact any legislation requiring immediate attention.

Ordinarily, Council would meet again on Sept. 7, but that session will be skipped because of the Labor Day holiday. So the next regular meeting probably will be on Sept. 21, more than a month away.

Although there is no pressing business to be handled, several pieces of legislation are awaiting action. Council held a brief session on Aug. 3, but prior to last night had not had a regular meeting since July 20.

With several members on vacation in July and August, Council frequently has not been able to muster the five or six votes necessary to enact legislation. Five voting members were present last night — W. E. Kaiser, George E. Willshaw, William Y. Orr, Robert W. Sample Jr. and Samuel B. Webber. Councilmen A. Stanley Kidder and H. A. Tullis were excused.

Six votes are required to enact emergency legislation at a single reading.

The board accepted the resignation of Miss Maxine Gray as a fifth grade instructor. She plans to teach in the Mid-West. Mrs. Amanda Hill of East Palestine was hired to replace her. She has served as a substitute for several years.

There are 80 teachers in the system.

Who really profited in steel this year?

Steelworkers' increased pay outstripped owners' dividend increase by 86 to 1

It is no surprise to anyone that the nation's steel companies earned larger profits in the frenzied first half of this year than in the first half of the recession-ridden year of 1958. After all, under pressure of strike fears, customers bought a lot more steel — nearly 3½ billion dollars worth more.

But would it surprise you to learn that for every dollar of increased dividends received by the owners of the steel companies this year, the steelworkers received $86 in increased wages and benefits?

Well, that is the fact!

Out of the increased profits the owners of steel companies received $7 million more in dividends this year than they did in the first half of last year.

The steelworkers, however, received $603 million more in wages and benefits.

And that increase, in any man's arithmetic, is 86 to one in favor of the steelworkers. But it still isn't enough for the Union leaders. They want more and more — and more. When they describe steel profits as "fantastic," what word is then left to describe the gains of the steelworkers?

Let's Look at the Facts

The steel companies have no complaint whatever to make about the greatly increased prosperity of the steelworkers. But they do protest vigorously when Union leaders—concealing the fabulous gains of their members—seek to distort, magnify and misrepresent the profit picture in a brazen effort to foist another disastrous round of wage inflation upon the American people.

We think the time has come, therefore, to look at the sober facts about payrolls and profits, and to put them in perspective.

One Million Owners Got $268 Million Total Dividends

The steel companies are owned by more than one million stockholders whose invested savings have provided the tools, the plants, and other capital facilities needed to make steel. As payment for the use of these facilities, which cost in excess of $16 billion, the stockholders received $268 million in dividends during the first six months of this year.

607,000 Employees Got $2,251,000,000 in Payrolls

In this same period, the steel companies employed an average of 607,000 men and women who provided the brains, energy, skill and judgment necessary to produce and market the steel. For their services, they received a total of $2,251 million in wages and salaries — more than eight times as much as the owners received.

Steelworkers' Average Earnings Jumped $29.38 a Week

More than 75 percent of the total payroll went to 491,000 hourly-paid workers, whose average weekly earnings have risen steadily, in every quarterly period, since the beginning of 1958. In these eighteen months alone the steelworkers' earnings jumped from $105.64 a week to $135.02 — a gain of $29.38 a week.

Companies Sold $9¼ Billion Worth of Steel

You have been told that the steel companies made record dollar profits in the first half of this year; and that is true. What you were not told is that production and sales — and payrolls, taxes and other costs — also established new record highs.

During this period the companies sold $9¼ billion worth of steel. And after covering their payrolls, taxes and other costs—all record highs—they showed a profit of $783 million, less than 8½ cents on each dollar of sales.

Let's see what happened to this profit.

One-Third Was "Phantom Profit."

Roughly one-third of the profit was "phantom profit" which had to be used to cover the inflated cost of replacing worn-out tools and facilities. This one-third provided nothing for the owners—nothing for expansion. It had to be used just to stand still.

Otherwise the steel industry would die a little each year as its plants wore out. And so would the jobs of its over 600,000 employees and the invested savings of its more than one million shareowners.

One-Third Was Reinvested

Another third or so of the profit went to meet the continuing need for improved or enlarged plants and equipment, necessary working capital, new sources of raw materials, new research facilities, and to improve productive efficiency generally.

This was the "re-invested profit" that provides for America's industrial growth, sustains job security, and steadily raises the standard of living of the American people.

One-Third Went to the Owners

What was left of the profit—$268 million—went to the owners of the steel companies in the form of dividends. This was the only payment they received from their companies for the use of all the tools that their savings have provided; and it represented an annual return of about 3 percent on the present market value of their investment.

That is about the same return you get on your savings account at the bank—less than on a Government Bond.

Not exactly "fantastic" is it? . . . Especially since the companies — in order to attract the new savings they must have—must compete in the financial market place against all other security issues.

Remember This All-Important Fact

This, then, is the simple, sober truth about steel profits and payrolls in 1959; and from it you may draw your own conclusions. But there is one all-important fact that should never be lost in the smokescreen of confusion that the Union leaders have sought to create around profits. And that fact is this:

Any increase in steel wage costs at this time will give another dangerous twist to the upward spiral of inflation.

This is because steelworkers are already leading the wage parade, and a further increase now will force other unions in every branch of industry and trade to redouble their efforts to "catch up." Thus wages and production costs will rise on all sides; and so will the cost of almost everything you buy.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 17 and have been dating a fine boy, 20. Last night I asked him if he ever had an affair. He tried to change the subject. I nagged him until he finally told me about it.

He was only 16 and the woman was a divorcee. He said he saw her only a few times. She got married shortly after that and he hasn't seen her since.

My parents think he's wonderful. Should I tell them about this? I know I'm too young for marriage now, but we've discussed it. Now I wonder if I'd be happy with a man who has a past. What is your opinion?—KIM.

Dear Kim: You had no business pumping your boy friend and he was a boob to tell you. It's not their business either.

Worse Than Truth

Dear Ann: My wife died in childbirth eight years ago. Two years later I married an angelic woman who treated my son as if he were her own. We've since had three children together. Our family is very happy — with only one cloud.

I never told the oldest boy this woman is not his real mother. She's been begging me for three years to tell him but I'm afraid it will be a teriffic emotional blow. I fear, too, the children may feel differently toward him if they learn he's only a half-blood relative.

I say what kids don't know can't hurt them. Since the boy doesn't remember his real mother why dredge up the past? My wife asked me to write to you. What's your advice?—SMOKE SCREEN.

Dear Smoke Screen: The adage, "What you don't know can't hurt you," is a meaningless collection of words. Ignorance is far more dangerous than truth.

Children should be told they are adopted or stepchildren as soon as they're old enough to know what the words mean. Better to grow up with the knowledge than to run the risk of hearing it from an outsider.

Unless you plan to rear this boy under a glass bell you can be sure someone who knows the story will one day tell him. And learning it from someone else could shatter his confidence in you forever.

Slippery Salesman

Dear Ann: Some time ago a magazine salesman who was passing through town with a crew sold me a subscription for $10. I didn't get his name but I have the name of the magazine publisher.

Several months have passed and I haven't received my magazines. The publisher doesn't answer my letters. To whom shall I report this?—CHEATED.

Dear Cheated: Report this to the city attorney's office. It comes under the heading of "confidence games." Also write to the Magazine Publishers Assn., 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, N.Y. They investigate rinky-dink shenanigans of this type and protect the public from racketeers.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

2 From Ohio Laud Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Words of praise for Carl A. Weinman of Steubenville, Ohio, nominated to be a U.S. District Court judge for Southern Ohio, abounded at a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee meeting Monday.

They came from Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) and Rep. Clarence Brown (D-Ohio). The pair strongly endorsed appointment of Weinman, named by President Eisenhower for the post vacated by assignment of Judge Lester L. Cecil to the Sixth District Court of Appeals.

Lausche said when he was governor and he asked Weinman, then a Jefferson County Common Pleas Judge, to instruct a grand jury to investigate vice and gambling complaints. Weinman's response in that instance and in other later contacts with Lausche were exemplary, Ohio's senior senator noted. Lausche added that he has heard "nothing but the finest" about Weinman, "who has the ability" to be a district judge.

Rep. Brown said, "I think he will be one of the outstanding jurists on the federal bench."

Weinman himself took the witness chair later in the subcommittee hearing. No opposition to his appointment was evidenced and the subcommittee is expected soon to recommend approval by the full judiciary committee. The 56-year-old attorney is currently in private practice.

News Media Face Contempt Counts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Common Pleas Judge William K. Thomas has asked that contempt charges be prepared against any news media here which published a report of grand jury indictments before the indictments were actually returned last July 24.

The judge directed a committee of bar association members to prepare charges against the Cleveland Plain Dealer, the Cleveland Press and "any wire service or radio station in Cuyahoga County" that gave advance information on the indictments. The case involved a finance company and an auto dealer who failed to provide titles to purchasers of several cars.

Maximum penalty in a contempt action is a $500 fine and 10 days in jail.

Special Council Meeting Planned

Although City Council's next regular session will not fall until Sept. 21, a special meeting will be held in the long interim — probably next Monday night — to enact a backlog of legislation built up in the summer vacation season.

At the suggestion of President B. E. Warner, councilmen agreed tentatively last night to hold a special session next Monday night at 7 to enact any legislation requiring immediate attention.

Ordinarily, Council would meet again on Sept. 7, but that session will be skipped because of the Labor Day holiday. So the next regular meeting probably will be on Sept. 21, more than a month away.

Although there is no pressing business to be handled, several pieces of legislation are awaiting action. Council held a brief session on Aug. 3, but prior to last night had not had a regular meeting since July 20.

With several members on vacation in July and August, Council frequently has not been able to muster the five or six votes necessary to enact legislation. Five voting members were present last night — W. E. Kaiser, George E. Willshaw, William Y. Orr, Robert W. Sample Jr. and Samuel B. Webber. Councilmen A. Stanley Kidder and H. A. Tullis were excused.

Six votes are required to enact emergency legislation at a single reading.

Board At Palestine Airs Vaccination Law

EAST PALESTINE — The new state compulsory immunization law governing polio and other diseases was discussed by the Board of Education and James Vocature, health commissioner, at a meeting Monday night.

No schedule was worked out. School will open with a full-day session Wednesday, Sept. 9. This is the latest opening for several years. Teachers will meet Tuesday, Sept. 8.

The board accepted the resignation of Miss Maxine Gray as a fifth grade instructor. She plans to teach in the Mid-West. Mrs. Amanda Hill of East Palestine was hired to replace her. She has served as a substitute for several years.

There are 80 teachers in the system.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Everybody Gets Into The Act

Television and radio people, like President Eisenhower and everybody else, have theories on the America that Nikita Khrushchev should see next month, meaning that the warning sign is up for a heavy downpour of suggestions for Khrushchev.

Marie Torre

As a matter fact, it's already raining suggestions. Chet Huntley told his TV audience Sunday that Khrushchev should see "Oklahoma City, where oil wealth flourishes; Nebraska and Iowa, where the wheat and corn grow; California, where dams provide power, where the Imperial Valley blossoms in what once was desert and where cars crowd the highways and freeways."

"KHRUSHCHEV should see Jones Beach on a hot Sunday afternoon, Radio City Music Hall and Rockefeller Center," was a motion made by a man on radio.

"He should be allowed to stand at some point at the toll booths of the Triboro Bridge and see the people who own automobiles in America. The rich or the workers? He will find it's the workers."

"Khrushchev should see Dizzy Gillespie," submitted another man on radio, "so he will see that we have something in orbit."

While it's more than doubtful that any of these suggestions ever will reach Mr. Khrushchev (Eisenhower's proposals, we suspect, will carry much more weight), the efforts of broadcasters to exploit the Soviet Prime Minister's visit in advance of the event has brought excitement to summer broadcasting, which is sorely in need of stimulation.

It has given both networks and local stations rich fodder. Such as WNEW's "An Open Letter to Nikita Khrushchev," a prodigious six-part series which began a week ago (continuing through Sept. 13) with Martin Weldon as writer and narrator.

Giving more than his own opinions, Weldon quoted the man-on-the-street and personalities from Sen. John F. Kennedy to Michael Quill to Toots Shor.

MR. SHOR thought Khrushchev should be shown "how our people live"; Quill favored the idea of putting the Soviet leader in a helicopter over New York between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m. on any working day so he could see the thousands of working people going home in their own cars."

Mr. Khrushchev would be an awfully tired man if he accepted even a 10th of the suggestions, and we found one television producer who has taken that into account. The considerate party is John McGiffert, producer of "Camera Three."

"It's impractical to think," said Mr. McGiffert, "that Khrushchev ever will get around to all those places, so this Sunday on 'Camera 3' we're going to suggest books for Khrushchev to read before he comes here."

Cartoonist Walt Kelly will be among the people contributing to a "A Reading List for Khrushchev," and his choices are the Sears, Roebuck Catalog and the New York telephone directory, the latter to show that "people communicate here."

BETSY PALMER and the "Today" management could not come to an agreement on a contract that was to return the actress to the Dave Garroway show. Having turned away all TV producers with "spectacular" offers during the negotiations with "Today," Betsy now figures among the available—for the right thing, of course. . .

The Nutrition Research Council conducted a 50-state survey to learn what people prefer to eat while watching TV. The findings: potato chips mostly. Also candy, fruit, cookies, nuts and dry cereals, in that order. . .

The leading question in letters sent to CBS by viewers is: "Why are you cancelling 'The Sam Levenson Show'?". . .

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Dickinson (Paul Kelly) of the Modernaires, currently on "Perry Presents," have opened a pet shop and kennels in their home town of Tarzana, Calif., insurance against the precarious show business life.

OFFERING RELIEF from the reruns last Sunday was the TV version of O Henry's "Ramsom of Red Chief," in which William Bendix and Hans Conreid vied for honors with little Teddy Rooney. Says Conreid about his young coworker: "Teddy Rooney is a fine little actor. . . so good, in fact, that I am reminded once more of the adage about never appearing on a stage with an animal, a child or an actor dressed as Abraham Lincoln."

GOP Expects Strong Labor Bill Passage

WASHINGTON (AP)— Jubilant Republicans contended today that through their efforts and those of President Eisenhower, the Democratic Congress is heading toward passage of a strong labor control bill.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois predicted in an interview that Congress will pass a bill satisfactory to Eisenhower.

A Senate-House conference committee sets out late today to try to compromise differing Senate and House versions. The conference was arranged after some GOP senators won an understanding that the Senate will get a chance to vote on the House bill at some point if no agreement is reached.

Eisenhower had criticized the Senate-passed bill as ineffective, and had spoken out strongly for the more restrictive bill which the House later passed. But the Senate made no effort Monday to vote on the House bill as a substitute for its own.

Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, assistant House GOP leader, said in a separate interview Republicans had received a political shot in the arm by House passage last week of the stronger measure.

The Senate checked action on the labor bills to the Senate-House conference committee only after a lengthy debate over what it will do if that group can't agree on a compromise version.

Dirksen said the administration's position is that any compromise must contain some provisions dealing with secondary boycotts, blackmail picketing and the no-man's-land area of state and federal jurisdiction over complaints. These are all in the House bill but are covered by less stringent provisions of the Senate bill.

Butler Wins Ticket Fight

Los Angeles Is Democratic Convention Site As Slated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ruckus over tickets has ended in a complete victory for Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler—and Los Angeles will keep the 1960 party convention.

Butler threw the prestige of his office into a showdown over seating with wealthy oilman Edwin C. Pauley. The dispute almost cost this city its first major political convention.

Pauley bowed out Monday as finance chairman of the host committee and the old committee was disbanded.

Pauley had insisted the committee was promised 5,000 tickets a day to the July convention in return for its $350,000 guarantee to the national committee. He later offered to compromise and accept 3,133. Butler refused him on both counts.

A new sponsoring group was formed. It agreed to underwrite the guarantee and accept Butler's top ticket offer—1,500 tickets a day. Butler had threatened to pull the convention out of Los Angeles unless his terms were met.

The new group agreed to another key Butler demand, opposed by Pauley: transfer of all advertising revenue from the convention program to the Democratic National Committee.

The five-minute meeting of Butler and local officials ended a five-month dispute climaxed when Butler threatened to move the convention to another city.

The old committee was replaced with one headed by Republican Mayor Norris Poulson as chairman and Dan A. Kimball, president of Aerojet General Corp., as executive chairman. Kimball was secretary of the navy under former President Harry S. Truman.

Patrolman 'Hooks' Youth At Aquarium

CLEVELAND (AP) — Patrolman John Paull was lurking behind one of the rare tropical fish tanks at the Cleveland Aquarium Monday night when he spotted a slippery one.

It turned out to be a 16-year-old East Side boy who had entered illegally by breaking a window. Although the catch was undersized, Paull kept him anyway and turned the "prize" over to the juvenile detention home.

Twice in the last month a thief had taken the contents of a box for donations, $10 each time. At the request of aquarium director William Kelly, the patrolman was stationed inside—to guard against any off-limits fishing expeditions.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams, 116, the Civil War's only surviving veteran grows weaker by the day, his daughter says.

"He took a little liquid nourishment during the day but he keeps getting weaker," said Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles late Monday night.

The victims, tourists, were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schmidt of Covington, Ohio, and Mrs. Lucille Wombolt of Bradford, Ohio. R. Everybody Gets Into The Act

Television and radio people, like President Eisenhower and everybody else, have theories on the America that Nikita Khrushchev should see next month, meaning that the warning sign is up for a heavy downpour of suggestions for Khrushchev.

Marie Torre

As a matter fact, it's already raining suggestions. Chet Huntley told his TV audience Sunday that Khrushchev should see "Oklahoma City, where oil wealth flourishes; Nebraska and Iowa, where the wheat and corn grow; California, where dams provide power, where the Imperial Valley blossoms in what once was desert and where cars crowd the highways and freeways."

"KHRUSHCHEV should see Jones Beach on a hot Sunday afternoon, Radio City Music Hall and Rockefeller Center," was a motion made by a man on radio.

"He should be allowed to stand at some point at the toll booths of the Triboro Bridge and see the people who own automobiles in America. The rich or the workers? He will find it's the workers."

"Khrushchev should see Dizzy Gillespie," submitted another man on radio, "so he will see that we have something in orbit."

While it's more than doubtful that any of these suggestions ever will reach Mr. Khrushchev (Eisenhower's proposals, we suspect, will carry much more weight), the efforts of broadcasters to exploit the Soviet Prime Minister's visit in advance of the event has brought excitement to summer broadcasting, which is sorely in need of stimulation.

It has given both networks and local stations rich fodder. Such as WNEW's "An Open Letter to Nikita Khrushchev," a prodigious six-part series which began a week ago (continuing through Sept. 13) with Martin Weldon as writer and narrator.

Giving more than his own opinions, Weldon quoted the man-on-the-street and personalities from Sen. John F. Kennedy to Michael Quill to Toots Shor.

MR. SHOR thought Khrushchev should be shown "how our people live"; Quill favored the idea of putting the Soviet leader in a helicopter over New York between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m. on any working day so he could see the thousands of working people going home in their own cars."

Mr. Khrushchev would be an awfully tired man if he accepted even a 10th of the suggestions, and we found one television producer who has taken that into account. The considerate party is John McGiffert, producer of "Camera Three."

"It's impractical to think," said Mr. McGiffert, "that Khrushchev ever will get around to all those places, so this Sunday on 'Camera 3' we're going to suggest books for Khrushchev to read before he comes here."

Cartoonist Walt Kelly will be among the people contributing to a "A Reading List for Khrushchev," and his choices are the Sears, Roebuck Catalog and the New York telephone directory, the latter to show that "people communicate here."

BETSY PALMER and the "Today" management could not come to an agreement on a contract that was to return the actress to the Dave Garroway show. Having turned away all TV producers with "spectacular" offers during the negotiations with "Today," Betsy now figures among the available—for the right thing, of course. . .

The Nutrition Research Council conducted a 50-state survey to learn what people prefer to eat while watching TV. The findings: potato chips mostly. Also candy, fruit, cookies, nuts and dry cereals, in that order. . .

The leading question in letters sent to CBS by viewers is: "Why are you cancelling 'The Sam Levenson Show'?". . .

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Dickinson (Paul Kelly) of the Modernaires, currently on "Perry Presents," have opened a pet shop and kennels in their home town of Tarzana, Calif., insurance against the precarious show business life.

OFFERING RELIEF from the reruns last Sunday was the TV version of O Henry's "Ramsom of Red Chief," in which William Bendix and Hans Conreid vied for honors with little Teddy Rooney. Says Conreid about his young co-worker: "Teddy Rooney is a fine little actor. . . so good, in fact, that I am reminded once more of the adage about never appearing on a stage with an animal, a child or an actor dressed as Abraham Lincoln."

Pauley bowed out Monday as finance chairman of the host committee and the old committee was disbanded.

Pauley had insisted the committee was promised 5,000 tickets a day to the July convention in return for its $350,000 guarantee to the national committee. He later offered to compromise and accept 3,133. Butler refused him on both counts.

A new sponsoring group was formed. It agreed to underwrite the guarantee and accept Butler's top ticket offer—1,500 tickets a day. Butler had threatened to pull the convention out of Los Angeles unless his terms were met.

The new group agreed to another key Butler demand, opposed by Pauley: transfer of all advertising revenue from the convention program to the Democratic National Committee.

The five-minute meeting of Butler and local officials ended a five-month dispute climaxed when Butler threatened to move the convention to another city.

The old committee was replaced with one headed by Republican Mayor Norris Poulson as chairman and Dan A. Kimball, president of Aerojet General Corp., as executive chairman. Kimball was secretary of the navy under former President Harry S. Truman.

Patrolman 'Hooks' Youth At Aquarium

CLEVELAND (AP) — Patrolman John Paull was lurking behind one of the rare tropical fish tanks at the Cleveland Aquarium Monday night when he spotted a slippery one.

It turned out to be a 16-year-old East Side boy who had entered illegally by breaking a window. Although the catch was undersized, Paull kept him anyway and turned the "prize" over to the juvenile detention home.

Twice in the last month a thief had taken the contents of a box for donations, $10 each time. At the request of aquarium director William Kelly, the patrolman was stationed inside—to guard against any off-limits fishing expeditions.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams, 116, the Civil War's only surviving veteran grows weaker by the day, his daughter says.

"He took a little liquid nourishment during the day but he keeps getting weaker," said Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles late Monday night.

The victims, tourists, were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schmidt of Covington, Ohio, and Mrs. Lucille Wombolt of Bradford, Ohio. R. Womboldt was injured in the crash of their car with a truck that allegedly crossed the center line.

West Virginia, Pennsylvania Gridders Begin 1959 Drills

Ohio Schools Open Sessions On Thursday

Football will return this week in full force as district high school coaches begin sending their gridders through the paces for the 1959 season.

West Virginia teams got a jump on the other district schools when Dom Amedeo at Chester, Pete Horoszko at Newell and Charlie Miller at New Cumberland opened drills Saturday.

Midland, again under the direction of John Petchel, and South Side High School at Hookstown join other Pennsylvania schools which launched practice today.

Ohio schools won't receive the "green light" on practice until Thursday.

Coach Lou Venditti of East Liverpool plans two-a-day practice sessions at 9 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Wellsville, with Coach Ken Woods in his second season, will launch drills the same day.

Venditti said equipment was issued to 47 boys Monday at Patterson Field and he expects this number to report to opening day practice Thursday.

Horoszko, Newell High mentor, said 28 gridders answered the call Saturday and from that total 16 are lettermen. The Vikings are also holding two-a-day sessions at 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Amedeo is working with a squad of 43 boys at Chester, but only six of the group are lettermen.

Chester is the first school in the immediate area to open the 1959 campaign. The Panthers will travel to New Cumberland on Sept. 4 for their inaugural with the Blue Raiders.

Newell won't open until a week later, Sept. 11 at Cameron, while Midland will open at home with Beaver Falls on the same day.

1959 Season Is Fading For Schoendienst

MILWAUKEE (AP) —The 1959 season is running out on Red Schoendienst but the Milwaukee Braves' veteran second baseman is looking ahead to next year.

Schoendienst battling back from a bout with tuberculosis, is finding it tougher than he expected to get into condition.

"The doctor won't allow me to run much, and running is baseball,' the 36-year-old redhead said. "You have to be in shape to play this game and you can't get into shape without running."

Schoendienst rejoined the Braves and donned his No. 4 uniform Monday for his first appearance in Milwaukee County Stadium since the World Series last fall.

"I feel good — very good," he said with a big grin. "But, heck, I'm not ready yet. Hitting the ball in batting practice isn't the same as going up there in a game."

Often called the sparkplug of Milwaukee's National League champions the past two years, Schoendienst still is hopeful of being able to help the Braves in September. But it appears doubtful.

FIGHT RESULTS

East Providence, R. I. — Paul Pender, 160, Brookline, Mass., outpointed Jackson Brown, 159, Boston, 10; Cardell Farmos, 167½, Boston, outpointed Willie Troy, 163, New York, 10.

Tokyo — Leo Espinoso, 121¾, Philippines, outpointed Kiyoaki Nakanishi, 124, Japan, 10; Baby Carlos, 124, Philippines, outpointed Hiroshi Oda, 121¾, Japan, 10.

New York Colt Wins Both Heats In Pace

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gene Direct, a little chestnut colt owned by the Mar-Tom Stables of Glen Head, N. Y., won both heats of Monday night's $13,739 Grandview Pacing Futurity at Northfield Park and enriched his owners by $6,594.

In the first race, won in 2:07 4-5, the son of Gene Abbe and J. Ann Direct dueled almost the entire route with McKinley Kirk's Belle S before posting a three-quarter length triumph. Gene Direct, backed down to a 1-5 favorite, paid $2.60, $2.20, $2.20.

As a 2-5 choice in the second heat. Gene Direct, driven by Eddie Cobb, lasted through the final stretch for a one length margin over Jerry Way in 2:10 for a $2.80, $2.20, $2.20 payoff.

Baseball's Top Brass Meet

5 Basic Problems Face Organizers Of 3rd Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — At least five basic problems were slated to be thoroughly discussed today when baseball's top brass met with organizer William A. Shea on the projected third major league.

1. Where does this unborn Continental League plan to recruit the necessary 200 players?

2. What would be left of the minor league structure if the new league were to raid the ranks of the International League, American Association and Pacific Coast League?

3. How many cities actually could produce stadiums of major league quality and capacity?

4. How would the Continental League maintain the interest of the players and public without World Series incentive?

5. What would the new league propose to compare favorably with the major league players' pension plan?

Commissioner Ford Frick, head of the seven-man major league committee, acknowledged he was eagerly waiting to hear the answers. Shea, the New York lawyer and guiding spirit of the still unborn Continental League, admits he'd like to know some of the answers himself.

Shea, however, insists his league has no financial, personnel or park problems.

Shea has backers for five teams lined up. The founding five are New York, Houston, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Denver and Toronto. It is believed he has applications for membership from San Diego, Portland, Seattle, Buffalo, Miami, Montreal, Dallas-Ft. Worth San Juan and Puerto Rico.

Stanton Local Will Play Night Football This Year

IRONDALE — Daylight football games at home will soon be a thing of the past for Stanton Local High School gridders.

Supt. C. P. Henderson announced today that a permanent lighting system for night football games will be installed for use this season at Irondale's Memorial Athletic Field.

In the past, Irondale gridders were forced to play all home games in the afternoon except for one instance when a portable lighting system was obtained.

Supt. Henderson said work will begin right away on installing the lighting system and it is expected that the first home game of the Irons will be played under the lights. Poles were donated by the Ohio Edison Co., while the entire project is shared jointly by the Stanton Local Board of Education and the Red and Black Athletic Club.

Supt. Henderson also announced that all candidates for this year's steam will be given physical examinations Wednesday night at 7:30 in the high school building by Dr. William Banfield. Equipment also will be issued Wednesday night.

Coach Fred Sims will begin workouts with this year's squad Thursday morning at 10, the superintendent said.

Olmedo, Buchholz Capture Opening Round In Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Alex Olmedo and Earl Buchholz Jr. have some hard work ahead of them this week in their Davis Cup prep but already they show strong teamwork around the net.

Olmedo, the Peruvian master who led the U.S. to victory over Australia last December, and his agile 18-year-old partner from St. Louis, won their opening round men's match Monday in the 79th U.S. National Doubles Tournament.

The scores were 7-5, 8-6, 6-4 over 1958 Davis Cup squadman Don Kierbow of Los Angeles and Iyo Pimental, No. 1 Venezuelan player.

Non-playing U.S. Cup Captain Perry Jones, looking ahead to the challenge round with the Aussies Aug. 28-30 at Forest Hills, N.Y., apparently will use Olmedo and Buchholz in the crucial doubles if they prove themselves as a unit this week.

Wimbledon champions Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson dispensed with Alan Roberts of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Ned Neeley of Atlanta, Ga., 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

National Junior Champions Charlie McKinley of St. Louis and Martin Reissen of Hinsdale, Ill., pulled the major upset of the day in ousting Davis Cupper Tut Bartzen and Ron Holmberg, 6-2, 8-6, 12-10.

Latrobe Golfer Leads In West Penn Tourney

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Frank Kiraly of Latrobe was one stroke ahead of Tom Blaskovich of Pittsburgh today as play began in the second round of the Western Pennsylvania Open Golf Championship.

Kiraly had a 68 in the first round Monday on the par 72, 6,516-yard Edgewood Country Club course.

Former National Open champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont had a 71 to tie for sixth. Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, big winner on the pro circuit, was in a big tie for ninth with a 72.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Paul Foytack, Tigers, beat the second place Indians 5-4 with an 8-hitter, walking none, striking out 7 and allowing only 4 hits over the last 7 innings.

Hitting—Willie McCovey, Giants, drove in tie-breaking run with an eighth-inning pinch sngle in 6-3 victory over the Reds.

Brown To Eye Bob Ptacek In Akron Game

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Coach Paul Brown will take a good look at Bob Ptacek, named most valuable player among the College All-Stars, when the Cleveland Browns meet the Detroit Lions Saturday night in Akron.

After Ptacek joined the Browns here Monday Brown said he will use him in the exhibition at fullback on offense and also as a defensive halfback.

"I told him and the other fellows from the All-Star squad to learn their assignments and be ready. We'll be using all of them," Brown said.

A quarterback at Michigan, Ptacek played both defensive halfback and quarterback for the All-Stars against the Baltimore Colts. Otto Graham, who coached the All-Stars, said Ptacek "really deserved that award."

Graham said Ptacek "ran the offense in camp better than the other quarterbacks, but we needed him with the defense. He's smart and will learn fast."

Other competition for quarter back on the left side includes Jim Shofner, back from last season, and rookie Dick LeBeau of Ohio State. At fullback, Ptacek will be competing against Ed Modzelewski for the spot behind Jim Brown.

Graham had praise also for the other all-stars who are with the Browns. They are tackle Fran O'Brien, guard John Wooten, ends Dick Schafrath and Rich Kreitling, a talented pass receiver. Schafrath suffered a cheek fracture in the game against Baltimore, but the others are in camp here working out.

Brown said Wooten will start as a messenger guard against the Lions and O'Brien will be at right offensive tackle. Kreitling also is scheduled to play.

Tribe Absorbs 5-4 Loss To Tigers; Nixon Injured, Is Lost Indefinitely

Nixon suffered a groin strain while running to second during the game against Detroit, and he will be out for an indefinite period. Detroit won 5-4.

The Indians won 7 and lost 6 on that trip. They were 1½ games behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox when they left here Aug. 7. They return 3½ games behind.

Others injured on this trip were Jimmy Piersall, who broke a finger, Billy Martin, Cal McLish and Jm Perry. McLish was knocked out of the box last Friday in his first start after suffering a shoulder injury. He said the injury had nothing to do with it, however.

In Monday's game, the last for the Tribe this year in Briggs Stadium, Tiger hurler Paul Foytack went the distance, holding the Indians to eight hits.

Sunday, the Indians knocked Foytack out of the box in the first inning, when they scored five runs. But that game was washed out by rain and the two teams started from scratch Monday, each with Sunday's starters on the mound.

The Indians gave Bell a three-run lead in the second. Rocky Colavito opened that inning with a home run into the lower seats in left-center—his 35th homer this year. The Tribe scored two more on singles by George Strickland, Woodie Held and Vic Power and an error by first baseman Gail Harris.

Charley Maxwell hit a homer for Detroit in the second, and the Tigers added three more runs in the fifth to go ahead. In that inning, Bell gave up three hits in addition to a walk to Foytack.

Hawkins Rejected, Joins Mobile Club

Wynn Hawkins, the pitching ace from New Waterford who reported for the Army last week, was rejected following a physical examination. He has rejoined the Mobile team in the Southern Association. In his latest game, he was defeated by Shreveport, 5-1, in 10 innings. His record now is 12-6.

Otto Honored In Cleveland

"Otto is the greatest single football player I've ever known and always the first one in my football memories. He was the heart and soul of our football team; he made it go . . ."

Welcoming his former student to the coaching ranks, Brown also had a few words of advice:

"Do the best you can and follow what you believe in," he told Graham. "I think you're going to like it. From 30 years of experience with all types of players, alumni, athletic directors and fans I can tell you one thing for sure.

There had been rumors of a feud between Brown and Graham, but the former Northwestern collegian said Brown's attendance at the dinner "meant more than anything else."

"Paul made me the quarterback I was," Graham told the group. I learned from him. Now as a coach (Graham also piloted the college all-stars the past two years) I find myself using his methods about 99 per cent.

Ohio Girl Among Top Favorites In National Tourney

Along with Diana Hoke of Pittsburgh, Andrea Schaffer of San Francisco, Sandra Haynie of Austin, Tex., and Judy Ran of Auroran, Ohio, Darlene established herself among the tournament favorites. They led the field in qualifying performances on the par 36-37—73 course.

Diana and Andrea, both 17, paced the field of 88 with 76 each. Darlene was next. Sandra, Texas Women's champion, and Judy each finished at 79. None of the other 32 who became eligible for the start of match play today beat 80.

High School Sets Orders On Season Grid Tickets

Applications for 1959 season football tickets now are being accepted at East Liverpool High School for the five home games, beginning Sept. 18 at Patterson Field.

The Potters will play Youngstown South at home on Sept. 18, Bellaire St. John's Oct. 9, Warren Oct. 16, Salem Nov. 6 and Toronto Nov. 13.

The away games are with Girard Sept. 25, New Philadelphia, Oct. 2, Struthers Oct. 23, Steubenville Central Oct. 30 and Alliance Nov. 20.

The season tickets are $5, which means a savings of $1.25 on five tickets. A down payment of $3 is necessary, with the remaining $2 payable when the tickets are picked up.

Rosensohn Forced Out After License Is Lifted

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The proposed return heavyweight championship bout between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson today was without a promoter.

There were mounting indications that it will be without champion Johansson, who lifted the crown from Patterson last June 26. The return tentatively is set for Sept. 22.

The New York State Athletic Commission Monday suspended the matchmaker's license of Bill Rosensohn and the promoter's license of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc. for "statements" made by Rosensohn.

A commission spokesman said the suspension undoubtedly was a result of a signed story by Rosensohn in Sports Illustrated in which he said he unwillingly signed away control of Rosensohn Enterprises so the first Johansson, Patterson fight could go.

All the confusion has brought claims and counter claims from both sides of the Atlantic.

The big question, aside from who is going to promote the fight if it ever comes off, is:

How good is the contract Johansson signed with Rosensohn for the return? It was a personal contract with Rosensohn and, according to Ingemar, had nothing to do with Rosensohn Enterprises.

In addition to all the promotional fuss, Ingemar still refuses even to talk about a return until he is satisfied with an accounting of the money from radio, TV and movies of the first fight.

Texas Nabs Lead In Trans-Miss Golf Tournament

A one-under-par 70 gave Don Massengal of Jacksboro, Tex., the lead heading into today's final 18 holes that will decide the 64-man field for match play competition.

Massengale was the only golfer in a field of 192 to solve Woodhill's deceptively hard par 35-36—71.

Two strokes behind Massengal were Bob Brue of Milwaukee, Ron Royer of Crawfordsville, Ind., Charles Coody of Stamford, Texas, and Rodney Horn of Kansas City.

Woomer Tops Big 8 Bowlers

Jack Woomer carried off most of the honors when 35 attended the Big 8 Bowling League banquet Monday at the Travelers Hotel.

Woomer went away with the high single game of 255 and the high average for the season of 194.

Cox's EL Merchants Will Meet Wednesday

With the series standing a 1-1, Cox Construction and the East Liverpool Merchants will resume the City League playoffs Wednesday at 6 p. m. at Patterson Field. The winner of Wednesday's game will play Lawrenceville next week for the playoff championship.

The summer league which rolls at the Headpin elected Emery Walker as president for next season, Tracy Hancock, vice-president, and Chuck Winters, secretary.

Gene's Bar was the league champion, with Travelers Hotel the runnerup. Another award for high three game series went to Jo Chan with a 656.

Moore Meets Bassey For Feather Title

He's spoiling for a fight.

"It's best not to try to talk to Davey before the fight," said his manager, Willie Ketchum. "Davey gets worked up, he don't like to talk to anybody."

Ex-champ Hogan (Kid) Bassey, too, was in seclusion today.

Both camps report the scrappy 126-pound battlers are as fit as well-tuned fiddles for their title fight Wednesday night.

The bout, a rematch of their bloody meeting last March, is billed for 15 rounds, or less. A crowd of 10,000 is expected to watch at the Olympic Auditorium, as well as a nationwide television audience.

The fight will be telecast beginning at 7 p. m. PDT over the ABC network.

Bad eye cuts forced Bassey to bow out of the March battle after 12 sizzling rounds. But the cuts are healed and the brows as good as ever, says the little Nigerian's manager, George Biddles.

West Virginia, Pennsylvania Gridders Begin 1959 Drills

Ohio Schools Open Sessions On Thursday

West Virginia teams got a jump on the other district schools when Dom Amedeo at Chester, Pete Horoszko at Newell and Charlie Miller at New Cumberland opened drills Saturday.

Midland, again under the direction of John Petchel, and South Side High School at Hookstown join other Pennsylvania schools which launched practice today.

Ohio schools won't receive the "green light" on practice until Thursday.

Coach Lou Venditti of East Liverpool plans two-a-day practice sessions at 9 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Wellsville, with Coach Ken Woods in his second season, will launch drills the same day.

Venditti said equipment was issued to 47 boys Monday at Patterson Field and he expects this number to report to opening day practice Thursday.

Horoszko, Newell High mentor, said 28 gridders answered the call Saturday and from that total 16 are lettermen. The Vikings are also holding two-a-day sessions at 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Amedeo is working with a squad of 43 boys at Chester, but only six of the group are lettermen.

Chester is the first school in the immediate area to open the 1959 campaign. The Panthers will travel to New Cumberland on Sept. 4 for their inaugural with the Blue Raiders.

Newell won't open until a week later, Sept. 11 at Cameron, while Midland will open at home with Beaver Falls on the same day.

Tribe Absorbs 5-4 Loss To Tigers; Nixon Injured, Is Lost Indefinitely

Nixon suffered a groin strain while running to second during the game against Detroit, and he will be out for an indefinite period. Detroit won 5-4.

The Tribe catcher has just broken a batting slump. He was the fifth man injured on the road trip that wound up at Detroit.

The Indians won 7 and lost 6 on that trip. They were 1½ games behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox when they left here Aug. 7. They return 3½ games behind.

Others injured on this trip were Jimmy Piersall, who broke a finger, Billy Martin, Cal McLish and Jm Perry. McLish was knocked out of the box last Friday in his first start after suffering a shoulder injury. He said the injury had nothing to do with it, however.

Perry, who missed one turn because of a sore arm, is to pitch in the opener of a 15-game home stand against Washington tonight.

In Monday's game, the last for the Tribe this year in Briggs Stadium, Tiger hurler Paul Foytack went the distance, holding the Indians to eight hits.

Sunday, the Indians knocked Foytack out of the box in the first inning, when they scored five runs. But that game was washed out by rain and the two teams started from scratch Monday, each with Sunday's starters on the mound.

This time it was Gary Bell who didn't last, suffering his 10th setback against 13 victories. He was removed for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

The Indians gave Bell a three-run lead in the second. Rocky Colavito opened that inning with a home run into the lower seats in left-center—his 35th homer this year. The Tribe scored two more on singles by George Strickland, Woodie Held and Vic Power and an error by first baseman Gail Harris.

Charley Maxwell hit a homer for Detroit in the second, and the Tigers added three more runs in the fifth to go ahead. In that inning, Bell gave up three hits in addition to a walk to Foytack.

But Detroit came back again, with the decisive run in the sixth on singles by Maxwell and Harris and a sacrifice fly by Lou Berberet.

Otto Honored In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—At a dinner Monday night for Otto Graham, the new head coach at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, Paul Brown, his former mentor with the Cleveland Browns, said:

"Otto is the greatest single football player I've ever known and always the first one in my football memories. He was the heart and soul of our football team; he made it go . . ."

Welcoming his former student to the coaching ranks, Brown also had a few words of advice:

"Do the best you can and follow what you believe in," he told Graham. "I think you're going to like it. From 30 years of experience with all types of players, alumni, athletic directors and fans I can tell you one thing for sure.

There had been rumors of a feud between Brown and Graham, but the former Northwestern collegian said Brown's attendance at the dinner "meant more than anything else."

"Paul made me the quarterback I was," Graham told the group. I learned from him. Now as a coach (Graham also piloted the college all-stars the past two years) I find myself using his methods about 99 per cent.

"My years with the Browns were the greatest. I wouldn't trade them for any other experiences."

Hawkins Rejected, Joins Mobile Club

Wynn Hawkins, the pitching ace from New Waterford who reported for the Army last week, was rejected following a physical examination. He has rejoined the Mobile team in the Southern Association. In his latest game, he was defeated by Shreveport, 5-1, in 10 innings. His record now is 12-6.

1959 Season Is Fading For Schoendienst

MILWAUKEE (AP) —The 1959 season is running out on Red Schoendienst but the Milwaukee Braves' veteran second baseman is looking ahead to next year.

Schoendienst battling back from a bout with tuberculosis, is finding it tougher than he expected to get into condition.

"The doctor won't allow me to run much, and running is baseball," the 36-year-old redhead said. "You have to be in shape to play this game and you can't get into shape without running."

Schoendienst rejoined the Braves and donned his No. 4 uniform Monday for his first appearance in Milwaukee County Stadium since the World Series last fall.

"I feel good — very good," he said with a big grin. "But, heck, I'm not ready yet. Hitting the ball in batting practice isn't the same as going up there in a game."

Often called the sparkplug of Milwaukee's National League champions the past two years, Schoendienst still is hopeful of being able to help the Braves in September. But it appears doubtful.

Baseball's Top Brass Meet

5 Basic Problems Face Organizers Of 3rd Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — At least five basic problems were slated to be thoroughly discussed today when baseball's top brass met with organizer William A. Shea on the projected third major league.

1. Where does this unborn Continental League plan to recruit the necessary 200 players?

2. What would be left of the minor league structure if the new league were to raid the ranks of the International League, American Association and Pacific Coast League?

3. How many cities actually could produce stadiums of major league quality and capacity?

4. How would the Continental League maintain the interest of the players and public without World Series incentive?

5. What would the new league propose to compare favorably with the major league players' pension plan?

Commissioner Ford Frick, head of the seven-man major league committee, acknowledged he was eagerly waiting to hear the answers. Shea, the New York lawyer and guiding spirit of the still unborn Continental League, admits he'd like to know some of the answers himself.

Shea, however, insists his league has no financial, personnel or park problems.

Shea has backers for five teams lined up. The founding five are New York, Houston, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Denver and Toronto. It is believed he has applications for membership from San Diego, Portland, Seattle, Buffalo, Miami, Montreal, Dallas-Ft. Worth San Juan and Puerto Rico.

Stanton Local Will Play Night Football This Year

IRONDALE — Daylight football games at home will soon be a thing of the past for Stanton Local High School gridders.

Supt. C. P. Henderson announced today that a permanent lighting system for night football games will be installed for use this season at Irondale's Memorial Athletic Field.

In the past, Irondale gridders were forced to play all home games in the afternoon except for one instance when a portable lighting system was obtained.

Supt. Henderson said work will begin right away on installing the lighting system and it is expected that the first home game of the Irons will be played under the lights. Poles were donated by the Ohio Edison Co., while the entire project is shared jointly by the Stanton Local Board of Education and the Red and Black Athletic Club.

Supt. Henderson also announced that all candidates for this year's steam will be given physical examinations Wednesday night at 7:30 in the high school building by Dr. William Banfield. Equipment also will be issued Wednesday night.

Coach Fred Sims will begin workouts with this year's squad Thursday morning at 10, the superintendent said.

Olmedo, Buchholz Capture Opening Round In Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Alex Olmedo and Earl Buchholz Jr. have some hard work ahead of them this week in their Davis Cup prep but already they show strong teamwork around the net.

Olmedo, the Peruvian master who led the U.S. to victory over Australia last December, and his agile 18-year-old partner from St. Louis, won their opening round men's match Monday in the 79th U.S. National Doubles Tournament.

The scores were 7-5, 8-6, 6-4 over 1958 Davis Cup squadman Don Kierbow of Los Angeles and Iyo Pimental, No. 1 Venezuelan player.

Non-playing U.S. Cup Captain Perry Jones, looking ahead to the challenge round with the Aussies Aug. 28-30 at Forest Hills, N.Y., apparently will use Olmedo and Buchholz in the crucial doubles if they prove themselves as a unit this week.

Wimbledon champions Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson dispensed with Alan Roberts of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Ned Neeley of Atlanta, Ga., 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

National Junior Champions Charlie McKinley of St. Louis and Martin Reissen of Hinsdale, Ill., pulled the major upset of the day in ousting Davis Cupper Tut Bartzen and Ron Holmberg, 6-2, 8-6, 12-10.

Latrobe Golfer Leads In West Penn Tourney

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Frank Kiraly of Latrobe was one stroke ahead of Tom Blaskovich of Pittsburgh today as play began in the second round of the Western Pennsylvania Open Golf Championship.

Kiraly had a 68 in the first round Monday on the par 72, 6,516-yard Edgewood Country Club course.

Former National Open champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont had a 71 to tie for sixth. Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, big winner on the pro circuit, was in a big tie for ninth with a 72.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Paul Foytack, Tigers, beat the second place Indians 5-4 with an 8-hitter, walking none, striking out 7 and allowing only 4 hits over the last 7 innings.

Hitting—Willie McCovey, Giants, drove in tie-breaking run with an eighth-inning pinch sngle in 6-3 victory over the Reds.

Brown To Eye Bob Ptacek In Akron Game

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Coach Paul Brown will take a good look at Bob Ptacek, named most valuable player among the College All-Stars, when the Cleveland Browns meet the Detroit Lions Saturday night in Akron.

After Ptacek joined the Browns here Monday Brown said he will use him in the exhibition at fullback on offense and also as a defensive halfback.

"I told him and the other fellows from the All-Star squad to learn their assignments and be ready. We'll be using all of them," Brown said.

A quarterback at Michigan, Ptacek played both defensive halfback and quarterback for the All-Stars against the Baltimore Colts. Otto Graham, who coached the All-Stars, said Ptacek "really deserved that award."

Graham said Ptacek "ran the offense in camp better than the other quarterbacks, but we needed him with the defense. He's smart and will learn fast."

Other competition for quarterback on the left side includes Jim Shofner, back from last season, and rookie Dick LeBeau of Ohio State. At fullback, Ptacek will be competing against Ed Modzelewski for the spot behind Jim Brown.

Graham had praise also for the other all-stars who are with the Browns. They are tackle Fran O'Brien, guard John Wooten, ends Dick Schafrath and Rich Kreitling, a talented pass receiver. Schafrath suffered a cheek fracture in the game against Baltimore, but the others are in camp here working out.

Brown said Wooten will start as a messenger guard against the Lions and O'Brien will be at right offensive tackle. Kreitling also is scheduled to play.

Ohio Girl Among Top Favorites In National Tourney

Along with Diana Hoke of Pittsburgh, Andrea Schaffer of San Francisco, Sandra Haynie of Austin, Tex., and Judy Ran of Auroran, Ohio, Darlene established herself among the tournament favorites. They led the field in qualifying performances on the par 36-37—73 course.

Diana and Andrea, both 17, paced the field of 88 with 76 each. Darlene was next. Sandra, Texas Women's champion, and Judy each finished at 79. None of the other 32 who became eligible for the start of match play today beat 80.

Rosensohn Forced Out After License Is Lifted

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The proposed return heavyweight championship bout between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson today was without a promoter.

There were mounting indications that it will be without champion Johansson, who lifted the crown from Patterson last June 26. The return tentatively is set for Sept. 22.

The New York State Athletic Commission Monday suspended the matchmaker's license of Bill Rosensohn and the promoter's license of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc. for "statements" made by Rosensohn.

A commission spokesman said the suspension undoubtedly was a result of a signed story by Rosensohn in Sports Illustrated in which he said he unwillingly signed away control of Rosensohn Enterprises so the first Johansson, Patterson fight could go.

All the confusion has brought claims and counter claims from both sides of the Atlantic.

The big question, aside from who is going to promote the fight if it ever comes off, is:

How good is the contract Johansson signed with Rosensohn for the return? It was a personal contract with Rosensohn and, according to Ingemar, had nothing to do with Rosensohn Enterprises.

In addition to all the promotional fuss, Ingemar still refuses even to talk about a return until he is satisfied with an accounting of the money from radio, TV and movies of the first fight.

Texas Nabs Lead In Trans-Miss Golf Tournament

A one-under-par 70 gave Don Massengal of Jacksboro, Tex., the lead heading into today's final 18 holes that will decide the 64-man field for match play competition.

Massengale was the only golfer in a field of 192 to solve Woodhill's deceptively hard par 35-36—71.

Two strokes behind Massengal were Bob Brue of Milwaukee, Ron Royer of Crawfordsville, Ind., Charles Coody of Stamford, Texas, and Rodney Horn of Kansas City.

A nationwide campaign is under way to curb vandalism in national parks and forests. The campaign was organized by a Seattle group, The Mountaineers.

Moore Meets Bassey For Feather Title

He's spoiling for a fight.

"It's best not to try to talk to Davey before the fight," said his manager, Willie Ketchum. "Davey gets worked up, he don't like to talk to anybody."

Ex-champ Hogan (Kid) Bassey, too, was in seclusion today.

Both camps report the scrappy 126-pound battlers are as fit as well-tuned fiddles for their title fight Wednesday night.

The bout, a rematch of their bloody meeting last March, is billed for 15 rounds, or less. A crowd of 10,000 is expected to watch at the Olympic Auditorium, as well as a nationwide television audience.

Giants Continue To Give National League 'The Willies'

Mays, McCovey Spark Late Rally For 6-3 Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

A bunch of Willies-come-lately these San Francisco Giants, what with Willie Mays, Willie McCovey or Willie Kirkland coming through in the late innings to keep 'em out front in that National League pennant chase.

Since taking over first place on July 30, the Giants have won 12 of 17 games—and in 9 of those victories they didn't score the clincher before the seventh inning. Fact is, in the 9 late comebacks, two were won in the seventh, three in the eighth, two in the ninth and two in extra innings.

Kirkland's done the job three times, Mays and McCovey twice each.

It was that way again Monday night as the Giants came from behind with five runs in the last three innings for a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati that gave San Francisco a three-game bulge. Mays drove in the run that tied it 3-3 with a sacrifice fly in the seventh inning. A pinch single by McCovey got the winning run home in a two-run eighth.

That added a half-game to the Giants lead as second-place Los Angeles split a twi-night doubleheader at Milwaukee, winning 4-3 after losing 8-1 to the third place Braves, who trail by four games.

Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 7-6 in a battle for fourth place, and St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 5-4.

A seventh-inning home run by Don Zimmer, his fourth, did it for the Dodgers in the nightcap after they had caught the Braves with three runs in the fifth, two of them unearned. Johnny Podres (10-7) won it with five innings of four-hit, shutout relief. Bob Rush (5-4) was the loser in relief for the Braves, who scored their three in the first inning against Stan Williams.

Milwaukee backed a seven-hit performance by Bob Buhl (10-8) with three home runs in the opener. Joe Adcock's 17th came with a man on in a three-run first inning against loser Sandy Koufax (6-3), who also gave up Ed Mathews' solo 34th in the second inning. Hank Aaron, who missed two games because of back trouble was 4-for-5 in the opener, including his 31st home run.

The Pirates, who trailed 4-0 after three innings, took the lead in a three-run fifth triggered by Rocky Nelson's two-run homer, then needed a walk, Bob Clemente's single and an error to break a 6-6 tie in the seventh. Ernie Banks drove in three runs for the Cubs, two with his 37th home run, good for the major league homer lead. Rookie Fred Green won his first major league decision in relief for the Bucs. Bill Henry (7-6) lost it.

Curt Flood drove in three runs for the Cards, counting the clincher in the sixth with a sacrifice fly against loser Ray Semproch (3-9). Wilmer Mizell (12-7) beat the Phils for the fifth time without defeat this year, but needed Lindy McDaniel's relief after he had them blanked on three hits for eight innings.

'Break Major-Minor Pact' Is A. B. Chandler's Advice

By Fritz howell
Associated Press Sports Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — "Break the major-minor agreement," is Gov. A. B. Chandler's advise to minor league baseball in its fight for survival.

"The major leagues control practically all the players and most of the minor league clubs, but have no real interest in them," the former commissioner said.

"Under the short-sighted and selfish major league operations, such as television invasion of minor league territory, the farm system, the draft and huge bonuses, the minors are gasping for breath. They must fight fire with fire, and the best way would be to abrogate the pact with the big leagues.

"That would do away with the draft, and the optioning and recall of players. The majors could sign all the bonus players they desire, but at cut-down time they'd have to release most of the talent now being farmed, and the minors would sign them as free agents.

"Then they could sell them back to the majors, after developing them, instead of just getting a pittance for the development as it is now. It would also do away with the majors recalling a player in mid-season, thus wrecking the interest in the minor league cities."

Of the 150 minor league clubs, 30 are owned outright by major loop teams. Practically all the others are under control of the majors to some extent through working agreements.

Since 1949 a total of 38 leagues and 296 cities have passed from the minor league picture, leaving 21 leagues and 150 towns.

"And, unless the majors change their attitude, or the minors start fighting, I see the complete destruction of the minors," Chandler said. "And if the minors fall, the majors won't survive too long."

Wings Help Richmond Into First Division

By The Associated Press

Richmond's Virginians are in the first division of the International League but they needed a big handout to get there.

The handout came from the very generaus Rochester Red Wings, who gave the Vees five unearned runs Monday night, enough for a 7-4 victory. The game was the only action Monday night.

Early Wynn Has Batters Eating Out Of His Hand

CHICAGO (AP) — At an age when most men get sore arms just tossing peanuts to elephants, Early Wynn and his durable right have American League batters eating out of his hand.

The 39-year-old pitcher for the league-leading Chicago White Sox will try for his 17th victory of the season tonight against the Baltimore Orioles. He has lost 7.

In his last two outings he has hurled three-hit shutouts, topping the circuit with five for the campaign as well as leading in number of triumphs.

Wynn, in his 19th major league season, is baseball's top active winner with 265. Thirty-five more victories and he will become the first pitcher to win 300 major league games since Lefty Grove.

Wynn also is seeking the league's strikeout title for the third straight year. He knocked off 184 in 1957, 179 in 1958 and is tied with Cleveland's Herb Score so far this season with 139.

"I do a lot of running," said Wynn. "An athlete's legs are the first to go. So far my legs feel strong and my arm just follows along."

The fast ball and curve still are Wynn's meat-and-potatoes pitches.

"He has good breaking stuff, and he knows when to come in with that fast one when the batters aren't expecting it," says catcher Sherm Lollar. "He has a world of confidence—he knows how to pitch, he knows the batters."

Rams Must Be Tabbed Strong Threat In NFL

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

REDLANDS, CALIF. (AP) — Blessed with outstanding proven players and several potentially great rookies, the Los Angeles Rams must be considered a strong title threat in the National Football League campaign this year.

And to hold down the opposition, coach Sid Gillman can look to such veterans as Gene Brito, Lou Michaels, Les Richter, John Baker, George Strugar, Jack Pardee, Don (Blade) Burroughs, Will Sherman, Jack Morris, Jimmy Jones and others.

Still to be finally graded are some nine rookies. The roll includes Michigan State's Sam Williams, who is to be groomed as an offensive end but not overlooked as a defensive wingman; linebacker John Guzik from Pittsburgh; defensive halfback Ed Meador from little Arkansas Tech; Tom Franckhauser from Purdue; Bob Reifsnyder from Navy, and quarterback Buddy Humphreys from Baylor.

The Rams will carry five linebackers. Eight are bidding for a berth, and all could help any other NFL club.

Gillman will go with three quarterbacks, Wade, now in his sixth year; Frank Ryan, starting his second, and rookie Humphrey.

Some Ram followers are concerned that the defensive secondary might be relatively weak, and the club will suffer from the loss of offensive tackle Ken Panfil and kicking specialist Paige Cothren.

Former Redleg Stars Revisit Series Scene

CINCINNATI(AP)—A group of baseball champions came out of the past Monday night to revisit the area where they beat Detroit in the last game of the 1940 World Series.

The squad played a two-inning game, one crew under manager Bill McKechnie, the other under coach Hank Gowdy. The Gowdys won, 4-2.

Paul Derringer, who won the last world series game, pitched. So did Bucky Walters who won two World Series games.

O'Toole Takes Lumps With San Francisco

The 22-year-old Chicagoan, who sometimes throws wild, took his lumps Monday night at the hands of San Francisco's league leading Giants who defeated the Reds 6-3. The loss was the rookies' seventh in nine decisions.

Dick Sisler, who managed O'Toole at Nashville last year, said, "Jim was wild and an inexperienced lefthander then.

"And he didn't know the first thing about fielding his position. But he has such extreme desire and ambition that I won't be surprised at anything he does from now on."

The Reds staked him to a two-run lead Monday night after the fifth inning but he couldn't hold on to it.

All the Cincinnati runs came in the fifth. Five consecutive singles—by Ed Baley, Ed Kasko, O'Toole, Whitey Lockman and Vada Pinson—put over two runs and chased Giants starter Mike McCormick. O'Toole scored after Gus Bell's sacrifice fly.

San Francisco pulled even, 3-3, in the seventh. Jackie Brandt and Jim Davenport singled and Pinson's bad throw allowed Brandt to score. Davenport was safe at home on Willie May's flyout, but he injured his leg on the slide and had to leave the game.

O'Toole was overwhelmed in the eighth. Felipe Alou doubled, Ed Bressoud singled and rookie flash Willie McCovey singled in the tie-breaker. After O'Toole hit pitcher Stu Miller with a pitch, Jay Hook replaced him. Brandt singled in one run before Hook got the next three Giants in order.

Giants Continue To Give National League 'The Willies'

Mays, McCovey Spark Late Rally For 6-3 Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

A bunch of Willies-come-lately these San Francisco Giants, what with Willie Mays, Willie McCovey or Willie Kirkland coming through in the late innings to keep 'em out front in that National League pennant chase.

Since taking over first place on July 30, the Giants have won 12 of 17 games—and in 9 of those victories they didn't score the clincher before the seventh inning. Fact is, in the 9 late comebacks, two were won in the seventh, three in the eighth, two in the ninth and two in extra innings.

Kirkland's done the job three times, Mays and McCovey twice each.

It was that way again Monday night as the Giants came from behind with five runs in the last three innings for a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati that gave San Francisco a three-game bulge. Mays drove in the run that tied it 3-3 with a sacrifice fly in the seventh inning. A pinch single by McCovey got the winning run home in a two-run eighth.

That added a half-game to the Giants lead as second-place Los Angeles split a twi-night doubleheader at Milwaukee, winning 4-3 after losing 8-1 to the third place Braves, who trail by four games.

Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 7-6 in a battle for fourth place, and St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 5-4.

A seventh-inning home run by Don Zimmer, his fourth, did it for the Dodgers in the nightcap after they had caught the Braves with three runs in the fifth, two of them unearned. Johnny Podres (10-7) won it with five innings of four-hit, shutout relief. Bob Rush (5-4) was the loser in relief for the Braves, who scored their three in the first inning against Stan Williams.

Milwaukee backed a seven-hit performance by Bob Buhl (10-8) with three home runs in the opener. Joe Adcock's 17th came with a man on in a three-run first inning against loser Sandy Koufax (6-3), who also gave up Ed Mathews' solo 34th in the second inning. Hank Aaron, who missed two games because of back trouble was 4-for-5 in the opener, including his 31st home run.

The Pirates, who trailed 4-0 after three innings, took the lead in a three-run fifth triggered by Rocky Nelson's two-run homer, then needed a walk, Bob Clemente's single and an error to break a 6-6 tie in the seventh. Ernie Banks drove in three runs for the Cubs, two with his 37th home run, good for the major league homer lead. Rookie Fred Green won his first major league decision in relief for the Bucs. Bill Henry (7-6) lost it.

Curt Flood drove in three runs for the Cards, counting the clincher in the sixth with a sacrifice fly against loser Ray Semproch (3-9). Wilmer Mizell (12-7) beat the Phils for the fifth time without defeat this year, but needed Lindy McDaniel's relief after he had them blanked on three hits for eight innings.

'Break Major-Minor Pact' Is A. B. Chandler's Advice

By Fritz howell
Associated Press Sports Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — "Break the major-minor agreement," is Gov. A. B. Chandler's advise to minor league baseball in its fight for survival.

"The major leagues control practically all the players and most of the minor league clubs, but have no real interest in them," the former commissioner said.

"Under the short-sighted and selfish major league operations, such as television invasion of minor league territory, the farm system, the draft and huge bonuses, the minors are gasping for breath. They must fight fire with fire, and the best way would be to abrogate the pact with the big leagues.

"That would do away with the draft, and the optioning and recall of players. The majors could sign all the bonus players they desire, but at cut-down time they'd have to release most of the talent now being farmed, and the minors would sign them as free agents.

"Then they could sell them back to the majors, after developing them, instead of just getting a pittance for the development as it is now. It would also do away with the majors recalling a player in mid-season, thus wrecking the interest in the minor league cities."

Of the 150 minor league clubs, 30 are owned outright by major loop teams. Practically all the others are under control of the majors to some extent through working agreements.

Since 1949 a total of 38 leagues and 296 cities have passed from the minor league picture, leaving 21 leagues and 150 towns.

"And, unless the majors change their attitude, or the minors start fighting, I see the complete destruction of the minors," Chandler said. "And if the minors fall, the majors won't survive too long."

Wings Help Richmond Into First Division

By The Associated Press

Richmond's Virginians are in the first division of the International League but they needed a big handout to get there.

The handout came from the very generaus Rochester Red Wings, who gave the Vees five unearned runs Monday night, enough for a 7-4 victory. The game was the only action Monday night.

Agricultural Hall Of Fame Planned By West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — An attempt will be made to raise from $20,000 to $25,000 in West Virginia to help build an Agricultural Hall of Fame near Kansas City, Kan.

The office of Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson said yesterday that sponsors of the shrine and an accompanying World's Fair of Agriculture are expected soon to designate a West Virginia chairman for the fund drive.

The Hall of Fame building is to cost about 3¼ million dollars. In the main rotunda will be placed life-sized busts of men and women who have been prominent in farming.

Nominations will be sought from the public. Twelve honorees will be chosen by the organization's board of directors the first year and a maximum of three each year thereafter.

Dr. A. Webster Tenney, national executive secretary of the Future Farmers of America in 1943-57, is executive director of the hall of fame corporation.

Shanklin Is Chosen As Charleston Mayor

John A. Shanklin was chosen unanimously by the City Council yesterday to fill out the term of the late John T. Copenhaver. It runs until May of 1963.

Copenhaver's death by a heart attack last Thursday came only a few months after he had been elected by an overwhelming majority to his third term. He led a Republican sweep which reduced the Democrats to just two members on the 24-member City Council.

Mrs. Ruth Copenhaver, the late mayor's widow, was chosen to take the at-large seat made vacant by Shanklin's elevation to mayor. Consequently, the party division of the council remains the same as it was.

Motorcyclist Killed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Merville Johnson, 18, of nearby Germantown, was killed Monday when his motorcycle went out of control on a hill on Ohio 123 near his hometown and slid under the front of an oncoming truck.

Agricultural Hall Of Fame Planned By West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — An attempt will be made to raise from $20,000 to $25,000 in West Virginia to help build an Agricultural Hall of Fame near Kansas City, Kan.

The office of Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson said yesterday that sponsors of the shrine and an accompanying World's Fair of Agriculture are expected soon to designate a West Virginia chairman for the fund drive.

The Hall of Fame building is to cost about 3¼ million dollars. In the main rotunda will be placed life-sized busts of men and women who have been prominent in farming.

Nominations will be sought from the public. Twelve honorees will be chosen by the organization's board of directors the first year and a maximum of three each year thereafter.

Dr. A. Webster Tenney, national executive secretary of the Future Farmers of America in 1943-57, is executive director of the hall of fame corporation.

Shanklin Is Chosen As Charleston Mayor

John A. Shanklin was chosen unanimously by the City Council yesterday to fill out the term of the late John T. Copenhaver. It runs until May of 1963.

Copenhaver's death by a heart attack last Thursday came only a few months after he had been elected by an overwhelming majority to his third term. He led a Republican sweep which reduced the Democrats to just two members on the 24-member City Council.

Mrs. Ruth Copenhaver, the late mayor's widow, was chosen to take the at-large seat made vacant by Shanklin's elevation to mayor. Consequently, the party division of the council remains the same as it was.

Motorcyclist Killed

Rubber Union And Goodyear Open Talks

CLEVELAND (AP)—Wage negotiations that could set a pattern in the rubber industry open today between the United Rubber Workers and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Involved are 23,000 workers in company plants in 11 cities.

The union's policy committee, which has called for a general wage increase, claims the industry is producing 3.7 per cent more per employe-hour than a year ago.

Asked what effect the steel and aluminum negotiations would have on rubber talks, an industry spokesman replied that rubber companies would go ahead and negotiate in good faith.

The aluminum industry's union has agreed to set aside contract deadlines until 30 days after a settlement of the steel strike, or Nov. 1, which ever occurs first.

The URW has the power to strike against Goodyear two weeks after talks begin. Goodyear was the only member of the industry's big four producers to settle negotiations on a master contract without a major strike earlier this year.

The others—United States Rubber Co., Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., and the B. F. Goodrich Co., all were closed from three to eight weeks by walkouts lasting from April into June.

The union will begin wage negotiations with U.S. Rubber Aug. 25 in Cincinnati, with Firestone Aug. 31 in Cleveland and with Goodrich the same day in Canton.

The URW represents 26,000 U.S. Rubber workers, 18,000 for Firestone and 15,000 at Goodrich plants.

Newark Plant Hit By Strike

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A strike, called unauthoried by both union and management, broke out here Monday, slowing down operations of the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Co. plant that employs some 2,500 production workers.

The strikers, who walked out after management increased work quotas in the filter department, are members of Local 2444, Glass Blowers & Bottlers Assn. Officials of the local, however, denied authorizing the strike.

Workers who felt aggrieved by the company's action of last Thursday met Monday morning and called the walkout for the second shift. About 40 per cent of the work force turned out for that shift, but after pickets were posted, only about 40 of 350 reported for the evening shift.

Dan Jones, president of the local, said that a general meeting of the union would be held this morning, with district representative James Crandall of Columbus attending. Jones said the strike is not sanctioned by the union but he said that efforts to deal with he management on the quota question were turned aside.

Plant manager Paul Welch, on the other hand, asserted that a meeting with the union had been set for 2 p.m. Monday only to have the strike begin at noon. Welch termed the walkout illegal and said the company will not meet with representatives of the strikers until the workers return to their jobs.

Unrest Denied By Little Rock School Heads

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — School officials deny a segregationist's claim of unrest and fighting between white pupils and a Negro at integrated Central High School. They said peace reigns at Central and at Hall, the other integrated high school.

Jefferson Thomas, 16-year-old senior and the lone Negro at Central, also denied being in any fights. But he said he was jeered and hooted at by a small group of white pupils as he left school Monday. It was the first such incident reported at the school, which has 1,200 white pupils.

Three Negro girls at Hall High have had no trouble.

Ted L. Lamb, school board secretary, said School Superintendent Terrell E. Powell had assured him no disciplinary problems had arisen in the schools.

The Rev. Wesley Pruden charged in a telegram to Little Rock's Mayor Werner Knoop and the city Board of Directors that unrest permeated Central, and that fights had occurred between Thomas and white pupils.

Disabled Yacht Helped

HONOLULU (AP) — A yacht, with nine persons aboard and a leak-flooded engine room, sent out a distress call Monday off the island of Hawaii. A plane dropped a pump that got the boat out of danger. The Coast Guard reported the 62-foot schooner, owned by Cliff Johnson, formerly of San Diego, Calif., headed into Kailau-Kona, Hawaii, 38 miles east for repairs.

LISBON — Three boys, 15-16-17, of Alliance were turned over to Stark County juvenile authorities Monday after they admitted shooting a hole in a mail box Aug. 11 at the farm of Earnest Sanor of East Rochester R. Town Almost Isolated By Cloudburst

An estimated 200 motorists were stranded, three railroad workers were missing, and parts of U.S. Highways 66 and 95 were washed out.

Sheriff's officers said the flood sealed off the town on the north, south and west — and threatened the road leading eastward. U.S. 66 is a transcontinental road through the town.

Although the rain stopped, traffic was stalled early today by debris-clogged roads and bridges destroyed by the water that poured out of desert arroyos.

Three members of a Santa Fe railway crew of five still were missing early today. The men had been dispatched by truck to check a washout 15 miles north of this farming town of 4,500 population.

A few hours later, railroad workers found two of the crew, George Ashmore, the crew foreman; and Geronimo Rodriguez, the truck driver, wandering near a road.

Ashmore was in a dazed condition with head and body injuries.

The torrent flipped their truck like a toy, Rodriguez said, adding that he last saw his fellow workers clinging to the sides of the vehicle.

Police Chief Robert Ford said the rainfall started about 9 p.m.

Chile Promises Courtesy To Castro On His Trip

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile today detailed a Cuban party of newsmen and soldiers accompanying Raul Castro on a so-called goodwill trip timed to coincide with the Inter-American foreign ministers' conference in Santiago.

The Chilean government promised every courtesy to Raul himself. But there was some doubt whether Prime Minister Fidel Castro's fiery brother would get here before the conference ended today.

Raul, commander - in - chief of Cuba's armed forces, stopped overnight in Lima, Peru, heightening speculation that he never had intended to appear before the conference. Both he and his brother have called it a farce.

There were strong suspicions among some conference delegates that Raul's trip was planned to grab headlines from the conference, which has been seeking ways to lessen tensions in the Caribbean created partly by invasions launched from Cuba.

An advance Cuban military plane, carrying 21 newsmen, 13 bearded soldiers equipped with pistols and machineguns and a crew of 7, was seized when it landed here Monday. The party was kept under guard and ordered to leave the country today.

Chilean officials said the Cubans did not have the advance permission required for the landing of a foregn military plane carrying armed personnel. They said none of those aboard had Chilean visas and some did not have identification papers.

Brushing aside the Castros criticism, the 21 foreign ministers meanwhle agreed unanimously to give special temporary powers to the Inter-American Peace Committee in an effort to curb further invasions by would be revolutionaries and their sympathizers.

But as a concilitary move, a step was taken toward enforcemen of human rights in the hemisphere—an action some delegates regarded as directed toward the Dominican Republic's strongman, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo and President Luis Somoza of Nicaragua.

The foreign ministers agreed to preparation of a convention on human rights for presentation to the 11th Inter - American conference in Quito, Ecuador, next year.

Firemen To Serve As Officers During FOP Funeral Services

Firemen will take over police department duties briefly Wednesday night to enable all members of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge to conduct funeral services for Patrolman William W. Dunn, who died Monday morning after a long illness.

The firemen's aid to their brother department was explained to Council Monday night by Fire Chief Charles Bryan. The action will enable all members of the FOP, including those who would be on duty, to attend the services for Officer Dunn at the Martin Funeral Home, he said.

At the same time, Council enacted a resolution of regret over Officer Dunn's death and ordered it transmitted to his family.

"I think I express the sentiments of Council when I say that we deeply regret the death of Patrolman William Dunn," President B. E. Warner said. "He always did a fine job on the police department."

Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. made the motion to extend Council's sympathy to the family of Officer Dunn "on the death of our good friend, Bill Dunn." He added that he extends wishes for future good fortune to Lt. George B. Kidd, whose resignation from the department also was announced yesterday. Lt. Kidd suffered a neck injury months ago and has been off duty since December.

Council made arrangements to go to the funeral home in a group tonight at 7 to pay final respects to Officer Dunn.

Pall-Bearers for Officer Dunn will be Patrolmen Paul Lemal, Charles Winters, Paul Carter, William A. Devon, Thomas A Walker and Charles E. (Bill) Tice. Members of the FOP will conduct an honor guard at the funeral home from 7 to 10 p. m. Wednesday.

Rubber Union And Goodyear Open Talks

CLEVELAND (AP)—Wage negotiations that could set a pattern in the rubber industry open today between the United Rubber Workers and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Involved are 23,000 workers in company plants in 11 cities.

The union's policy committee, which has called for a general wage increase, claims the industry is producing 3.7 per cent more per employe-hour than a year ago.

Asked what effect the steel and aluminum negotiations would have on rubber talks, an industry spokesman replied that rubber companies would go ahead and negotiate in good faith.

The aluminum industry's union has agreed to set aside contract deadlines until 30 days after a settlement of the steel strike, or Nov. 1, which ever occurs first.

The URW has the power to strike against Goodyear two weeks after talks begin. Goodyear was the only member of the industry's big four producers to settle negotiations on a master contract without a major strike earlier this year.

The others—United States Rubber Co., Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., and the B. F. Goodrich Co., all were closed from three to eight weeks by walkouts lasting from April into June.

The union will begin wage negotiations with U.S. Rubber Aug. 25 in Cincinnati, with Firestone Aug. 31 in Cleveland and with Goodrich the same day in Canton.

The URW represents 26,000 U.S. Rubber workers, 18,000 for Firestone and 15,000 at Goodrich plants.

Chile Promises Courtesy To Castro On His Trip

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile today detailed a Cuban party of newsmen and soldiers accompanying Raul Castro on a so-called goodwill trip timed to coincide with the Inter-American foreign ministers' conference in Santiago.

The Chilean government promised every courtesy to Raul himself. But there was some doubt whether Prime Minister Fidel Castro's fiery brother would get here before the conference ended today.

Raul, commander - in - chief of Cuba's armed forces, stopped overnight in Lima, Peru, heightening speculation that he never had intended to appear before the conference. Both he and his brother have called it a farce.

There were strong suspicions among some conference delegates that Raul's trip was planned to grab headlines from the conference, which has been seeking ways to lessen tensions in the Caribbean created partly by invasions launched from Cuba.

An advance Cuban military plane, carrying 21 newsmen, 13 bearded soldiers equipped with pistols and machineguns and a crew of 7, was seized when it landed here Monday. The party was kept under guard and ordered to leave the country today.

Chilean officials said the Cubans did not have the advance permission required for the landing of a foregn military plane carrying armed personnel. They said none of those aboard had Chilean visas and some did not have identification papers.

Brushing aside the Castros criticism, the 21 foreign ministers meanwhle agreed unanimously to give special temporary powers to the Inter-American Peace Committee in an effort to curb further invasions by would be revolutionaries and their sympathizers.

But as a concilitary move, a step was taken toward enforcemen of human rights in the hemisphere—an action some delegates regarded as directed toward the Dominican Republic's strongman, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo and President Luis Somoza of Nicaragua.

The foreign ministers agreed to preparation of a convention on human rights for presentation to the 11th Inter - American conference in Quito, Ecuador, next year.

Firemen To Serve As Officers During FOP Funeral Services

Firemen will take over police department duties briefly Wednesday night to enable all members of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge to conduct funeral services for Patrolman William W. Dunn, who died Monday morning after a long illness.

The firemen's aid to their brother department was explained to Council Monday night by Fire Chief Charles Bryan. The action will enable all members of the FOP, including those who would be on duty, to attend the services for Officer Dunn at the Martin Funeral Home, he said.

At the same time, Council enacted a resolution of regret over Officer Dunn's death and ordered it transmitted to his family.

"I think I express the sentiments of Council when I say that we deeply regret the death of Patrolman William Dunn," President B. E. Warner said. "He always did a fine job on the police department."

Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. made the motion to extend Council's sympathy to the family of Officer Dunn "on the death of our good friend, Bill Dunn." He added that he extends wishes for future good fortune to Lt. George B. Kidd, whose resignation from the department also was announced yesterday. Lt. Kidd suffered a neck injury months ago and has been off duty since December.

Council made arrangements to go to the funeral home in a group tonight at 7 to pay final respects to Officer Dunn.

Pall-Bearers for Officer Dunn will be Patrolmen Paul Lemal, Charles Winters, Paul Carter, William A. Devon, Thomas A Walker and Charles E. (Bill) Tice. Members of the FOP will conduct an honor guard at the funeral home from 7 to 10 p. m. Wednesday.

Newark Plant Hit By Strike

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A strike, called unauthoried by both union and management, broke out here Monday, slowing down operations of the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Co. plant that employs some 2,500 production workers.

The strikers, who walked out after management increased work quotas in the filter department, are members of Local 2444, Glass Blowers & Bottlers Assn. Officials of the local, however, denied authorizing the strike.

Workers who felt aggrieved by the company's action of last Thursday met Monday morning and called the walkout for the second shift. About 40 per cent of the work force turned out for that shift, but after pickets were posted, only about 40 of 350 reported for the evening shift.

Dan Jones, president of the local, said that a general meeting of the union would be held this morning, with district representative James Crandall of Columbus attending. Jones said the strike is not sanctioned by the union but he said that efforts to deal with he management on the quota question were turned aside.

Plant manager Paul Welch, on the other hand, asserted that a meeting with the union had been set for 2 p.m. Monday only to have the strike begin at noon. Welch termed the walkout illegal and said the company will not meet with representatives of the strikers until the workers return to their jobs.

Three Negro girls at Hall High have had no trouble.

Ted L. Lamb, school board secretary, said School Superintendent Terrell E. Powell had assured him no disciplinary problems had arisen in the schools.
